Figures in ₹

IN a move that could worsen the financial burden of the common man, oil marketing companies on Wednesday jacked up cooking gas price by ₹50 per cylinder. This is the eighth hike in the past one year and the cumulative increase shot up to ₹244 on Wednesday.

Following the hike, a 14.2-kg non-subsidised LPG cylinder costs ₹1,053 in Delhi, ₹1,052.50 in Mumbai, ₹1,079 in Kolkata and ₹1,068.50 in Chennai.

Notably, the price of commercial cylinders (19 kg) used in restaurants has been reduced by ₹8.50.

The unrelenting increase in cooking gas prices could have wider ramifications as 70% households use LPG as primary cooking fuel.

This is the fourth increase in the rate of cooking gas since the Russia and Ukraine war. The oil retailers increased LPG price by ₹50 each on March 22 and May 7. Then they effected another ₹3.50 rise on May 19.

Thankfully, there has been no revision on petrol and diesel prices for the past three months. The price of transport fuel froze after hiking a record ₹10 per litre in just 16 days beginning March 22, 2022. Then, on May 21, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman cut the excise duty on petrol by ₹8 per litre and on diesel by ₹6. She also announced a subsidy of ₹200 per cylinder for nine crore poor women and other beneficiaries who got free connections under the Ujjwala scheme.

The reason for the continuous hike in fuel prices is the strengthening of energy prices in the international market and LPG price is influenced by crude prices in the international market. Experts believe the hike was necessitated because retail selling price is not in tandem with that of crude oil.

The latest price hike has drawn criticism from the Opposition parties. The Congress termed it an "anti-people" decision and said the BJP-led government at the Centre is running a "bulldozer of inflation" over people's budget.

Intentional Rahul byte mess? Zee sacks two

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Lucknow/ New Delhi/Raipur

WHILE Zee News anchor Rohit Ranjan is under fire for airing a doctored clip of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on July 1, it now transpires that two producers of the show could have "knowingly and intentionally" created that mischief.

The Noida Police's FIR is based on Zee Media's complaint, which said its senior producer Narinder Singh and trainee producer Bikash Kumar Jha received a video feed of Rahul's statement on the attack on his constituency office in Wayanad, Kerala by SFI workers. But due to "oversight and inadvertence", Rahul's statement was presented in its show as if he was referring to the Udaipur murder.

Zee's internal inquiry fixed responsibility and sacked them, the complaint said. It went on to allege that the byte mix-up could have been intentional. However, the Noida Police are yet to question the duo.

Ranjan was initially not named as an accused in the FIR. His name was added later. The FIR was lodged at 8.33 am and the anchor was picked up from his Ghaziabad home around 9 am.

A Chhattisgarh police team that was waiting outside his house since 5.30 am to arrest him was foiled by the Ghaziabad Police till the Noida Police turned up and left with Ranjan.

Ranjan has since been released on bail. He moved the Supreme Court seeking protection from coercive action. "List it tomorrow," a vacation bench said when senior advocate Siddharth Luthra, appearing for him, sought urgent hearing.

B'luru tops in leasing office space in 2022

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

BENGALURU'S booming tech industry has directly contributed to an increase in residential and office spaces in the city. According to a report released by Knight Frank India, an international property consultancy agency, the city has accounted for 31 per cent of the country's office transactions in the first half of 2022. In addition, Bengaluru has also registered a 117 per cent increase in transactions related to office space going from 3.6 million sq ft in 2021 to 7.7 million sq ft in 2022. Meanwhile, residential sales went up by 80 per cent, despite Covid-19, adding 21,223 units in the city.

The report titled 'India Real Estate: H1 2022' analyses and records residential and office market highlights in eight major cities in the country for the first half of the year from January to June. It attributes the increase in Bengaluru's housing and office market to the working population slowly shifting back to working from their offices. The report also found that hiring had gone up by 35 per cent in the city between January and May, which may have contributed to the demand for an office.

"We expect the momentum to continue as the physical occupancy rates are expected to pick up," said Shantanu Mazumder, Knight Frank India, Bengaluru.

Now, proposal for self OC gathers steam

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

AFTER introducing the self assessment scheme for paying property taxes, the urban development department and BBMP are proposing self assessment certification for Occupancy Certificate (OC).

This proposal has gained momentum after Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC) said it was not mandatory to provide OC for getting power supply connection.

A senior BBMP official told TNIE that the certificate will be made applicable for sites up to 50X80 sqft, where the OC will be issued by an empanelled set of architects, certified by the BBMP and UDD, who will ensure that there are no building violations and the plan sanction does not flout zonal regulations.

"BBMP will later verify the details and the clearance. In case irregularities or anomalies are found, penalty will be imposed and OC will be immediately cancelled," an official from UDD stated.

The civic agency is also keen on including apartments constructed on smaller sites and commercial spaces, from where, an official state most of the violations are noticed. However, many application from smaller units are pending before the BBMP zonal offices for a long time. "The plan is to place them before the government for approval before the announcement of the assembly elections. In case of larger dimensions, it is mandatory to have an OC adhering to the sanctioned plan," the UDD official said.

No namaz on roads during Bakrid: BBMP

ENS @ Bengaluru

WITH Bakrid on July 10, the BBMP clearly stated that Namaz should not be offered on roads or at junctions.

BBMP chief commissioner Tushar Girinath confirmed the same and said that the decision was taken to ensure smooth traffic, and added that the matter will be discussed with Bengaluru police commissioner.

Prayers will be held in various parts of the city which should not hit traffic, Girinath said. Regarding the contentious Idgah Maidan, he said that due to the sale of animals ahead of Bakrid, BBMP is yet to clean the area. He stressed that namaz can be performed at Chamarajpet Idgah Maidan as there is a clear decision from the Supreme Court regarding the issue and like every year, permission for the prayer will be granted this time too. With regard to the animal sacrifice during Bakrid, BBMP has circulated a proceeding copy in which Bengaluru DC has clearly stated that there would be no slaughtering of cow, camel, buffalo following the new piece of legislation which has been enacted. Special teams comprising activists, veterinarians and police across the city would be tracking all entry points to stop transport of cows, buffalo or camels. To alert, public can call helpline 8277100200.

Shell out bucks to park

ENS @ Bengaluru

Vehicles owners in Bengaluru are set to feel another jolt as BBMP is planning to charge owners for parking, reinstating its 'pay and park system' in the municipality's core areas like Central Business District areas.

The Palike has already invited a tender for 5 years. Installation of smart solutions, operation and collection of parking fee and regular maintenance services of 'multi-level car parking building' at Freedom Park and parking bays at surrounding roads in Gandhinagar on revenue sharing basis would be provided, as per the tender. The project would be first implemented in Majestic and Gandhinagar surroundings, and later, would be extended to other parts. At present, the Palike would bring Gandhinagar's 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th Cross, Yadav Hostel Road, Sapna Book House Road and Ramachandra Road under the system.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said the rule has so far has been intermittent and pitched for a proper system.

CHANGE IN TRAFFIC FLOW AT HEBBAL TO EASE SNARLS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOR REPRESENTATION PURPOSE

TO decongest Hebbal flyover, which is infamous for its traffic snarls, the traffic police have made a few changes after studying the traffic pattern along with other agencies such as BBMP, BMRCL, and NHAI.

The police have decided not to allow vehicles coming towards the city from Yalahanka, Kodigehalli, Kempapura, and Jakkur directly on the Hebbal flyover. Instead, the commuters must take the loop ramp at Hebbal Circle to enter the city.

As there were complaints that buses were stopping at Hebbal Circle, hampering the movement of vehicles, measures have been taken to ensure that buses coming on the elevated corridor towards the city stop at the designated bus bay to drop and pick up passengers before the loop ramp. However, there will be no change in the movement of vehicles coming from the airport highway and they can take the Hebbal flyover as earlier.

Vehicles coming on the airport highway will be allowed to take the service road to proceed towards KR Puram and Tumakuru Road. Meanwhile, those going to Kempapura will have to take the service road near Vidyashilp/ Yalahanka bypass.

The system will be introduced from 6 am on Friday and more policemen will be deployed, the police said, adding that steps like changing the location of the bus stop at Hebbal Junction and prohibiting random parking of buses will be enforced gradually.

However, traffic experts feared that the new system may add to the chaos on service roads.

Rejuvenation of Jakkur Lake ordered

BENGALURU: BBMP Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Wednesday inspected the 160-acre Jakkur Lake and directed officials to work for its overall development. Girinath asked officials to consult experts for rejuvenation of wetlands, as this was the first lake to be set right in 2008 by BDA. The BBMP is spending Rs 1.10 crore on amenities like public toilets, information centre, building a bird watchtower, fencing and also ensuring fixing of storm water drains. "The lake is being developed as part of Amrit Nagarothana and our aim is zero sewage discharge," said Annapuran Kamat, Managing Trustee, Jala Poshan.

Girinath on night rounds to decongest city

BENGALURU: BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Tuesday night undertook the second leg of his night inspection at major bottlenecks to decongest Bengaluru. After stopping at Sindor Road and Sarakki Junction, he ordered shifting the name boards of areas causing obstruction to smooth traffic. He stated traffic coming from JP Nagar 14th E cross is spilling on to footpaths causing accidents. As there is water logging at Jayadeva and East End flyover stretch, Girinath asked officials to clear the silt. Stating that roads were damaged due to Metro work, he ordered officials to fix them in a month.

CONTRACTOR FINED, VEHICLE SEIZED FOR DUMPING WASTE

EXPRESS IMPACT

HOURS after an article and a video was tweeted of waste dumping on government land, BBMP South Division officials send marshalls to Veerabhadra Nagar in Banashankari 3rd Stage and caught the miscreants red handed.

A whopping Rs 60,000 fine has been imposed on the contractor-cum-tractor owner Ashok for dumping waste. The driver has been identified as Naga who managed to flee but the vehicle has been seized. A case has been registered after which the vehicle was sent to the Palike head office. TNIE had carried a report on July 6. "We received the alert from the Solid Waste Management Joint Commissioner Parashuram and rushed to the spot with few men and apprehended the driver. While being handed over to the police, he escaped. The tractor owner was unable to pay the fine, and so, the vehicle was not released," Col Rajbir Singh, Chief Marshal, BBMP said.

Residents had shared the screenshot of their complaint to BBMP's Sahaya App along with photos of waste being dumped with TNIE. "About 2,000 residents from nearby apartments were frustrated with the delay and after the media report, the issue got solved within hours," said a resident.

Programme can predict land rates for next decade

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

STUDENTS of MS Ramaiah Institute of Technology (MSRIT) have come up with a method to forecast progress of urbanisation and predict land rates with help of the satellite images provided by ISRO.

Three final-year students from the Industrial Engineering and Management department partnered with ISRO to develop a programme to predict the price of land for the next decade. "We wanted to track the rapid urbanisation in Bengaluru and to develop a tech solution so people can make profitable decisions regarding property buying. We had approached ISRO to use their satellite imagery and they had helped us," Haniya Fathima, one of the students in the project, told TNIE.

Fathima, alongside her project partners - K V Alekhya and Gargi, had developed a programme that allowed to forecast guidance values for land of the city till 2031. "At present, we have a server to supply us data. But we were thinking of a website that will make information easy to access for all," Fathima told TNIE.

They have forecast a 42 per cent increase in the city by 2031, based on data received from maps of Namma Metro, the airport, highways, special economic zones and Central Business District. They have also predicted extensive growth will take place around the KIA and Hoskote. "We've used data on the guidance values for hoblis/wards in the last 10 years. We hope this will help brokers, land developers, realtors and even farmers," Fathima said.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

07th July : Let's continue with Pisces, my special sign of the moment. Many cultures have identified this same group of stars as a Fish, whether Babylonian, Indian, Greek, Roman, Persian or Turkish. This is not surprising for cultures which were in close contact with each other, but even the Aztecs called the constellation Atl, or Fish.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The overall picture suggests that this is a busy day, if an expensive one. However, there doesn't seem to be any real obligation on you towards anything which can't be left to others. This should suit those of you who either need a rest or are arranging delicate personal matters.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Other people now appear to have the right approach, but your general situation is aided by the fact that you are also instinctively more tolerant and ready to accept different points of view. In part this is because you are now more secure emotionally.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It's a nervous moment, and people around you may be jumping to conclusions for no good reason. Everyone concerned seems to be too ready to take offence, but have you considered that it might be too easy for you to make a mistake? If you fire on all cylinders you may inadvertently say the wrong thing!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You've not always been a good judge of character, partly because you always wanted to believe the best, and also because you tend to jump to instant conclusions. You deserve admiration for your trusting qualities, but perhaps you are finally seeing others as they really are.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You have survived one emotional challenge, although there may well be ripples for some time yet. You should rein in your horns if you've overstretched yourself in any personal matter, and conserve your resources. This is a reckless moment, but you can let other people take the risks, especially if there are likely to be hidden costs.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
All eyes will be on you. The planets aligned with public and professional sectors of your horoscope are still very strong, but in view of the generally emotional overtones of today's lunar impact, I would expect close relations and intimate friends to be urging you on.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Although you're in a generally sociable phase, during which partnerships must take first priority, today's stellar picture puts the emphasis firmly on privacy. Solitude is a valuable asset and you need to be left alone to get on with your personal ambitions in peace.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You tend to blow hot and cold in emotional relationships, enthusing one minute, retreating behind your shell the next. If you start behaving like this now, take care, otherwise someone may give you a dose of your own medicine next week! But if you can dish it out, you should be ready to take it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You're walking a tightrope, willing to take risks, but not prepared to lose. Worldly ambitions, including professional aspirations, loom large. If you wish to make the most of your undoubted assets, proceed intuitively and, if you're responsible for other people, show them you care.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There have been so many frustrations and delays, but only because you expect so much. You may now begin to let up at work and place more emphasis on relaxation and pleasure. Also, secure firm agreement from close relations, particularly children.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Personal money matters and joint financial arrangements are both high on the agenda. The signs are that you'll be in an emotional mood and not too happy with people who take you for granted. That doesn't mean, though, that you should waste your own money dealing with them.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
One particularly encouraging aspect indicates that you'll be able to revive a special partnership. A little effort will be required. It may be a simple question of getting in touch. Perhaps an explanation is called for, partly because other people are impatient to get to the truth.

City's kids not healthy, lifestyle to blame

They are either malnourished, obese, overweight or stunted; experts say 'one fit for all' health schemes not practical

NAMRATA SINDWANI @bengaluru

GOVT. SCHOOL

OVER the past 4-5 years, there has been an increase in the number of children who are malnourished, obese, anaemic or stunted, in Bengaluru. "Obesity is rising because of the kind of food people are consuming, which has low nutritional value and high calorie intake," said Mohar Banerjee, senior programme manager at Rising against Hunger India Foundation, adding that though people are obese, they are still malnourished as they barely consume all the nutrients required in a balanced diet.

"A person's health gets severely affected by being underweight or obese, as both have different effects on the body," said Resident Medical Officer, IBS Hospital, Dr Simmi Dang. Being overweight increases the risk of almost all diseases, such as stroke, high blood pressure etc., whereas being underweight causes various skin, hair, bone diseases, anaemia, irregular periods in women, and a feeling of being ill all the time.

Various schemes were launched in Karnataka under the Integrated Child Development scheme, like supplementary nutrition for children in anganwadis, and health check-ups for pregnant women, besides a combined scheme for malnutrition and anaemia -- Ksheera Bhagya Yojana -- in 2013, providing 150ml of milk per day for children aged six months to six years.

Banerjee said government schemes have a 'one fit for all' approach which is not practical, and schemes like Poshan Abhiyaan and anganwadis are not accessible to all. He said the scheme's primary focus is providing the required calorie intake, rather than providing a nutrient-rich balanced diet.

The National Family Health Survey 2020 report also showed that currently, 31 per cent of children in the city are stunted, 28 per cent malnourished, 59 per cent anaemic and around 4.5 per cent are obese.

An Anganwadi Kendra worker, who did not want to be named, said they had shut during the pandemic, and only in the second week of November 2021, they started distributing food packets again to pregnant women, lactating mothers and children.

Priyanka Mary Francis, Director of Women and Child Development department, had addressed the issue earlier of a few Anganwadis limiting their reach to provide help to all children. She had said the solutions will be drawn up after joining hands with NGOs to improve conditions at the ground level.

Hunger at a high

India ranked 101 out of 116 countries in Global Hunger Index (GHI) 2021. India's score on GHI indicators is 27.5, which shows that India has a serious level of hunger.

FUNDRAISER

City youngster to walk ramp at Down Syndrome show in Denver

Bengaluru : Reza Reji (23) is the first Indian to be shortlisted for the Global Down Syndrome Foundation's (GLOBAL) annual fashion show -- Be Beautiful, Be Yourself. It is the largest fundraiser for Down Syndrome in the world. The event is scheduled for November 12 in Denver, USA. Her family said she has been like any other child, even after being diagnosed with the syndrome which never bothered her much. Speaking about her creativity, her mother Anita Reji, co-founder of Beautiful Together, an organisation that empowers special children, said Reza loves to paint, dance, perform theatre etc. She has trained under Shiamak Davar and performed a few times at Bengaluru's special dance sessions. She practices theatre at Chrysalis Performance Art Centre in the city, and has trained under Diana Tholoor. The organisation works with children with special needs. Reza could not believe she was selected and is super excited to be visiting the US, walking the ramp and going on stage. The family has already started preparing for the visit, from her costume, ramp walk and communication skills. Talking about Reza's childhood, Anita said she was always very joyful and active. Academically a little behind, but had a great memory. She grew up like a normal child. Initially, they took some time to understand her, but once they got the momentum, the journey was smooth. Anita appreciated GLOBAL's efforts to empower children with special needs. She added that children need empathy and not sympathy. It is important to work towards empowerment of all special children. ENS

Menstrual cup scheme launched in 2 districts

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

HEALTH and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar on Wednesday said the government would provide menstrual cups to all adolescent girls, free of cost. Once the pilot intervention is complete, the government will extend it across the state.

Speaking at the sidelines of the launch of the 'Maitri Menstrual Cup' scheme by the health and family welfare department at Vivekananda Girijana Kalyana Kendra in BR Hills in Chamarajanagar, Sudhakar said a pilot programme is being held there.

He said sanitary pads contain plastic which takes 600-800 years to decompose, and also lead to garbage problems. Menstrual cups are environment friendly, and each cup can be used for about 8-10 years, and will save cost. "Our government wants to provide menstrual cups to all women, free of cost. This will be done after the initial pilot intervention in two districts," Sudhakar added. The government has chosen a district with a predominant tribal community for the pilot project. Initially, the scheme will be launched in Chamarajanagar and Dakshina Kannada districts.

On the issue of recruitment of nurses, Sudhakar said all measures will be taken to ensure that special preference or reservation is given for the Adivasi Soliga community. He said preferential treatment will also be given to the community in the appointment of ASHA workers.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai congratulated Dr D Veerendra Heggade, Dharmadhikari of Sri Kshetra Dharmasthala, for being nominated to the Rajya Sabha. Ahead of 2023 polls, party hunts for young BC leader, likely to give Sunil Kumar big role

BJP TO FOCUS ON CASTE MATRIX, WOO BCs

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

THE BJP's two-day national executive meeting in Hyderabad gave an indication that the party would fall back on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's image in its attempt to conquer the southern fortresses, but could adopt a different strategy for Karnataka, where the political equation is different.

The local leadership is crucial in Karnataka, and the party is likely to go with its famed "double-engine" mantra. The central leadership is looking to attract the backward classes as assembly elections draw near.

With regional satraps like former chief minister B S Yediyurappa, an undisputed Veerashaiva Lingayat leader of the BJP, former prime minister H D Deve Gowda of the JDS, and Opposition leader Siddaramaiah continuing to be forces to reckon with, the party is looking to groom alternative leaders from within the party. "The high command has realised that the caste factor is going to play a crucial role in the assembly polls," a source said.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and many other leaders represent the Veerashaiva Lingayats, which has always favoured the BJP, C T Ravi and Dr C N Ashwath Narayan are the face of the Vokkaliga community, B Sriramulu is an ST leader and Union Minister of State for Social Justice A Narayanaswamy represents the SC community. Yet, the party lacks a young backward classes leader with promise.

According to sources, after former RDPR minister K S Eshwarappa lost his sheen, the party and RSS are eager to bring a Backward Classes leader to the fore, and are looking to project Energy Minister V Sunil Kumar as the new face. The party held a backward classes national executive committee workshop in Bengaluru recently, and Sunil fits the bill, a leader said.

FOR REPRESENTATION PURPOSE

After the July 18 presidential polls, CM Bommai's one year in office on July 27, and state BJP President Nalin Kumar Kateel's three-year term coming to an end in August, some changes in the government and party cannot be ruled out, a source told TNIE. To start with, party loyalists could be appointed to boards and corporations.

BCs averse to BJP?

There is a reason the BJP is giving a thrust to backward classes leadership in Karnataka, and is inclined to pick Sunil Kumar for a big responsibility: an internal sample survey has revealed that over 50 per cent of backward classes who voted in favour of the BJP in the 2018 assembly polls, is now averse to the Bommai government. "What assignment Sunil will get is a billion-dollar question," another source said.

In fact, sensing that the backward classes are not so happy with the BJP, Siddaramaiah and his supporters are planning a big birthday bash to attract AHINDA voters, a Congress source said.

GROUNDWORK FOR '23

Cong to do survey in constituencies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AHEAD of the 2023 Assembly elections in Karnataka, Congress leaders are getting ready to start the spadework, with surveys at the local and constituency level. Legislators and candidates will focus on their areas, and the surveys will be conducted by private agencies.

The Congress, which has 69 MLAs in the 225-strong Assembly, has set a target of 150 seats. On one side, Congress leaders are conducting various conventions, including Siddaramotsava, to mark the 75th birthday of the former chief minister, while on the other, Siddaramaiah and KPCC chief DK Shivakumar are gearing up for separate local surveys through private agencies. One of the surveys includes non-Congress constituencies. They are also planning a survey of Congress MLAs' constituencies, and those which have a strong party candidate. They will assess the demographics booth-wise and caste-wise, and other issues that will help candidates win polls.

A senior Congress leader, who wished to remain anonymous, said the way elections are fought has changed over the years. We need to stay updated on what's happening at the ground level, and surveys will be conducted accordingly. "We have written to candidates, including sitting MLAs, to get studies done through agencies, and more than 35 MLAs and candidates have agreed. It will take three months to complete, and based on it, we can gear ourselves for the elections," he said. There are a few trusted agencies which carry out such surveys, and a list will be given to the candidates to choose, a leader said.

BJP to set up war room

The BJP is gearing up to start a war room -- a call centre party workers anywhere across the state can contact and get details, and also share grievances, if any. "This is an attempt to take party workers into confidence,'' sources in the BJP said. The party is also planning caste-based conventions to woo new voters.

Hindu activists stop staging of play in Mysuru

SOME Bajrang Dal activists allegedly stopped the staging of a play 'Jategiruvanu Chandira' in Mysuru. Condemning the incident, theatre personality and former director of Rangayana Prasanna said, "History seems to be repeating. The Emergency announced by former Congress government led by then prime minister Indira Gandhi was condemned by many, including the Left parties and the RSS. But now friends of RSS are in power. In fact, they have more power than the Congress. So, is it right to act worse than what the Congress did during its tenure?" he asked.

Meanwhile, police booked a case against six Bajrang Dal workers for allegedly vandalising a cloth shop and assaulting two salesmen in Bhadravathi. According to a complaint lodged by one Shoukath Ali, the accused entered the shop at Rangappa Circle at around 5.48 pm on Sunday, verbally abused and assaulted him and another salesman when they were selling clothes to customers. The activists also damaged a computer, showcase glasses and mannequins.

The incident reportedly happened when some activists from Hindu outfits were protesting against the murder of tailor Kanhaiya Lal at Udaipur in Rajasthan recently. Bhadravathi Old Town police registered a case.

PSI RECRUITMENT SCAM

ADGP NOT COOPERATING WITH PROBE?

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

FORMER chief of police recruitment, Additional Director General of Police, Amrit Paul, has reportedly denied having any role in the alleged multi-crore police sub-inspector recruitment scam.

The senior IPS officer was arrested on July 4 by the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) in connection with the scam and remanded in police custody for 10 days for custodial interrogation.

Sources on condition of anonymity said Paul is allegedly not cooperating with the investigation.

Amrit Paul

At the centre of the scam, which has snowballed into a huge political controversy, is the missing key of the strongroom at the recruitment headquarters at Carlton House where the answer scripts and OMR sheets were kept for evaluation. The chief of police recruitment is the sole custodian of the key. But sources alleged that Paul has reportedly not been able to account for the key so far.

Prior to his arrest, in his earlier questioning by the CID, he had reportedly told the investigating team that his subordinates and recruitment staff had overseen the examination process.

The detailed confessional statement made by former Deputy Superintendent of Police (recruitment) Shantha Kumar, who was arrested earlier by the CID in the case under Section 164 of the CrPC, was reportedly instrumental in Paul's arrest.

Kumar was reportedly responsible for the strongroom, which was allegedly rigged leading to tampering of OMR sheets of candidates, who cleared the examination through fraudulent means.

"The CID also had gathered enough evidence, including digital evidence and call data records (CDRs), which led to the arrest of the senior IPS officer," said sources.

Paul, an IPS officer of the 1995 batch, was arrested under Sections 409, 406, 420, 468, 469, 461, 471 and 120 B of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) for criminal breach of trust by a public servant, criminal breach of trust, cheating, forgery, dishonestly breaking open receptacle containing property, using as genuine forged document or electronic record and criminal conspiracy. He has been placed under suspension under the All India Services (Discipline & Appeals) Rule, 1969.

BJP fighting corruption, unlike Siddu govt: CM

MYSURU: In the backdrop of the arrest of a top IPS officer in the PSI recruitment scam, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday said while his government is working towards eradicating corruption, the previous government shielded those involved in graft. He said former CM Siddaramaiah has claimed to have delivered effective administration, but his government had hushed up a case against a DGP who had an FIR for misuse of Rs 18 crore. Referring Siddaramaiah's accusation that the CM should not mislead the House in the recruitment scam, Bommai asked why was the then DGP not arrested. ENS

KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Wednesday alleged that ADGP Amrit Paul, who was arrested in the PSI recruitment scam, is ready to reveal the names of ministers and leaders involved in the scam, but investigating officers are not recording it.

Speaking to the media at Vidhana Soudha, he said, "The state is facing high levels of corruption and it has become the capital of graft in the country. Everyone knows what the High Court judge said on the issue of corruption. IPS officers, politicians and ministers are involved in the PSI scam, while a minister has asked candidates to surrender. Over 50 people have been arrested so far."

He said the statement of the arrested ADGP is not being fully recorded by investigating officers.

"Such an investigation will not do justice. There should be a judicial inquiry headed by a sitting high court judge," he added.

Replying to a question on senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's tweet on threats to high court judges, Shivakumar said, "He has rightly said the judiciary should be protected in this country. Judges have said there should be an open investigation. They also know that the government is fully involved in scams."

MSP must for all agri produce: Farmers' meet

FARMERS are restive again and are threatening to protest, saying their demands have not been met yet.

Farmer associations from five southern states, including Karnataka, gathered at a convention held in Krishnagiri of Tamil Nadu on Tuesday and decided to hold another massive convention in Coimbatore in Tamil Nadu in August to discuss issues concerning farmers from these states.

There was a near-unanimous demand that the 'Guaranteed Minimum Support Price (MSP)' for all agricultural produce has to be implemented and the GST levied on agricultural produce and implements be abolished.

Farmer leader Kurubur Shantakumar, who participated in the convention, said, "Resolutions were passed at the conference demanding a change in the agricultural credit policy, compensation for crop damage by wild animals and a call for the government to take special action.''

Shanthakumar said villages are going bankrupt because of the private investment policy of the central government.

Thousands of farmers took part in a massive rally before the start of the convention.

HITTING back at BJP for terming him a "lucky-dip" CM, JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy asked if Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and other saffron party CMs got the people's mandate for the top post. All are beneficiaries of Operation Kamala, he taunted.

Slamming the BJP government in a series of tweets, Kumaraswamy said, "I am a lucky-dip CM. Has the one who is sitting in CM's chair got the mandate? The BJP should not forget that he (Bommai) is also a lucky-dip CM."

"BJP should ask the one who was Deputy CM during the BJP-JDS coalition government about how many lucky-dip CMs were there in the party," he said indirectly referring to former CM B S Yediyurappa. "I have many times said that I am an accidental CM, but it is better to claim this than to be an Operation Kamala CM.''

Govt playing with future of school kids: Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CONGRESS Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah on Wednesday lashed out at the state government over problems faced by school students.

He tweeted, "While the 'vicious group' of government ministers, ruling party leaders and officials are indulging in a commission racket and looting the state exchequer, they are playing with the future of government schoolchildren by not providing textbooks, bicycles, shoes, socks to them. Some schools have old textbooks, some schools have new textbooks, while others don't have textbooks at all."

His tweets were in response to a government statement that it is not distributing bicycles, shoes and socks to government students this academic year.

Siddaramaiah further tweeted, "BJP gave Covid as the reason in the previous two years and now with the 40% commission they have emptied the coffers. The ruling party leaders & officers are looting the public money through 40% commission politics. The government is still unable to take a decision on distribution of textbooks to students. The government does not have money even to give the 'Vidyapravesha' and 'Kalika Chetharike' supplements to the students."

He stated, "The education department has issued an order to teachers to spend their own money to get the learning materials printed to give to students. No government had reached such a miserable state in the past."

He said, "It was former CM B S Yediyurappa who introduced the scheme to give bicycles to girl students. Is Basavaraj Bommai trying to sideline B S Yediyurappa by not continuing the scheme?"

In response, Primary and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh said in Kalaburagi, "The government has not taken any decision yet on providing bicycles, shoes and socks to the students." On the issue of textbooks, he said, "Up to 85 per cent of textbooks have been distributed. But wherever it has not happened, I have instructed officials to complete the process within a week."

AMID FURORE, MINISTER SAJI CHERIAN QUITS

It was my language and style in that criticism, says ex-Kerala minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ T'Puram

ANNOUNCING his resignation on Wednesday evening, Saji Cherian said he felt that it was not ethical to continue in the cabinet. Speaking to the media at the Secretariat media room, Cherian said he was saddened by the misinterpretation of his speech to weaken the policy and approach of the state government and Left Democratic Front. "I have not defamed the Constitution. The chief minister has sought Advocate General's advice over the comments in my speech. Hence it is not appropriate for me to continue in the post for a fair decision on the matter," he said.

"It was my language and style in that criticism. I haven't even once thought that this would be interpreted as a disrepute to the Constitution. I did not mean that. I'd made this clear in the assembly on Tuesday. Still, certain words are being widely used for a misleading campaign. This false campaign is based on certain excerpts from my speech. This is aimed at weakening the approaches of CPM and the Left front," he said.

Saji Cherian said he will be active in the future programmes of his party to uphold secular and democratic values. His party was strongly defending the Constitution against the challenges of the present times. "We are engaged in strong efforts, including legal and political methods, to protect secular, democratic and federal values. As a member of the CPM, my learnt opinion is to protect Constitutional values. Protecting the Constitution is an important political responsibility of the CPM and the LDF," he said.

"During the seven and half decades post-independence we have witnessed attempts to sabotage Constitutional concepts of democracy, civil rights and goals of economic justice. The organisation in which I'm a member had a proud role in preventing such moves. My organisation was in the forefront in the people's agitations against the Emergency, Citizenship Amendment Act and the bifurcation of Jammu and Kashmir," he said. Saji Cherian said that the Congress and the BJP, in different times, had failed to uphold the spirit of the Constitution.

SC stays Madras HC order on AIADMK leadership

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday stayed the Madras High Court order which had restrained passing of any unannounced resolutions in the meeting of the AIADMK general and executive councils concerning the issue of single leadership of the party.

The plea challenging the High Court order was filed by former Tamil Nadu chief minister Edappadi K Palaniswami. A vacation bench of Justices Dinesh Maheshwari and Krishna Murari also issued notices to AIADMK general council member M Shanmugam and party coordinator O Panneerselvam.

"Notice be issued to respondents, returnable in two weeks. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case and subject matter of litigation and high court orders, it is considered appropriate that operation and effect of order June 23, 2022, shall remain stayed," the bench said.

The top court clarified that the AIADMK general council, scheduled for July 11, 2022, may proceed in accordance with law. "We do not consider it necessary to pass any other orders of interim nature. It is made clear that the pendency of these petitions in this court could not be of any impediment in Single Judge dealing with civil suits examining prayer for any other interim relief or pass any other order as needed for facts and circumstances of the case," the bench said. It observed that the HC bench exceeded its jurisdiction by passing a stay order on the general council meeting.

Senior advocate CS Vaidyanathan, appearing for Palaniswami, submitted that contempt petitions have been initiated for the party meeting held after which the top court agreed to examine the matter. Advocate Maninder Singh, appearing for Shanmugam, submitted that the single bench, which had refused to stay the general council meeting, did not record any reason in the order.

THREE people were stabbed and many others injured when two groups belonging to different communities clashed at the bus stand of Kerur town near Badami on Wednesday. Five shops, 10 push carts of fruit vendors and several two-wheelers were also set on fire before the police swung into action. At least five suspects have been taken into custody in connection with the violence.

According to a source, the incident occurred when one of the victims tried to lodge a complaint against a woman doctor over her Facebook post against the remarks made by former BJP spokesperson Nupur Sharma.

Those who received stab injuries are identified as Lakshman Kattimani, Arun Kattimani and Yamanur Chungin, all residents of Kerur town. They are admitted to the District Civil and Private Hospital for treatment. However, according to a police officer, who wished not to be unnamed, "The clash broke out after a group of men was found misbehaving with a girl at the bus stand. Enraged by this, another group intervened and a clash ensued. The situation is under control and police are patrolling all localities." As soon as the clash turned violent, SP Jayaprakash rushed to Kerur town and took stock of the situation. He held meetings at Kerur police station. The traffic on NH-52 (Hubballi-Solapur) was disrupted for at least one hour.

Deputy Commissioner Sunil Kumar said, "The CrPC Section 144 will be clamped for two days beginning from midnight of July 6. Schools and colleges have been ordered to be closed in Kerur town on Thursday. The situation is under control and police are probing the incident."

Further, steps should be taken for evolving adequate measures to either set up sufficient anganwadi centres or in ensuring that children aged between zero and six years are provided the option of enrolling into the anganwadi centres," Amicus Curiae Phanindra said in the report submitted to the court. It is said closure of anganwadis during pandemic, non-supply of food and migration of labourers are among reasons.

Two witnesses examined in Gauri Lankesh trial

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE special court conducting the Gauri Lankesh murder trial in Bengaluru recorded the examination of two material witnesses on Wednesday, the third day of the trial.

A cable operator, who was the first to notice the body of the slain journalist, was examined by the prosecution team led by advocate S Balan and cross-examined by the defence team led by Gangadhara Shetty and Krishna Murthy. (Name of witnesses are withheld in KCOCA cases). The cable operator was reportedly called earlier by Gauri to rectify the cable in her house. He arrived only to find her murdered in the compound.

Another witness examined was a 'watchman' who lived in a building opposite her house in Rajarajeshwari Nagar. A mason by profession, he had just returned home that fateful evening on September 5, 2017, to the building where his wife was employed as security, when he allegedly heard gunshots and saw the scene of crime after other people had arrived at the spot. Gauri was assassinated outside her residence by two bike-borne men, around 8.30pm. INVESTMENT FOCUS IN TAMIL NADU YIELDS RESULTS

At a time when most states are still trying to recover from the pandemic-induced slowdown and struggling with the unmanageable fiscal deficit, fund crunch and dismal capital expenditure, Tamil Nadu is making a serious effort to attract investment. It sewed up a record 60 agreements in the recently-concluded conclave, for a cumulative investment of ₹1.25 lakh crore. The state's investment climate is stirred-up despite the setback of Ford's exit. But it's not yet time to celebrate. One must first see how many of these deals fly off the drawing board. Interestingly, the bulk of the deals went to Thoothukudi, among the less developed districts in the south, potentially making it a hub in the renewable energy space. Since the DMK coalition came to power in May 2021, TN claims to have signed MoUs worth ₹2.2 lakh crore.

The steady reversal in the investment climate reflects in the state's recent elevation in the all-India ranking in ease of doing business, from 14 in 2020 to third place this year. It also rose six spots to 11 in the national ranking of the start-up ecosystem, though it has some more distance to trek up. But the efforts to draw investments from across industries have given wings to the state's dream of becoming a trillion-dollar economy by 2030.

Amid the ballyhoo of deal-making, the government should not deviate from striking a balance between investments and the environment. Rules cannot be ignored to make life easier for the greedy corporate houses. For instance, the once-thriving garments and dyeing industries may have turned Tiruppur into India's textile capital but not without making it an environmental dark spot. The discharge of untreated effluents caused irreparable damage to Noyyal river. Similarly, in Pollachi, there are complaints about increasing pollution and contamination of well water and forest water streams frequented by wildlife. While setting up polluting industries, the government should keep a close watch. The development cannot be at the cost of the environment that is not easily renewable.

CORRUPTION NET SNARES IAS, IPS NAMES

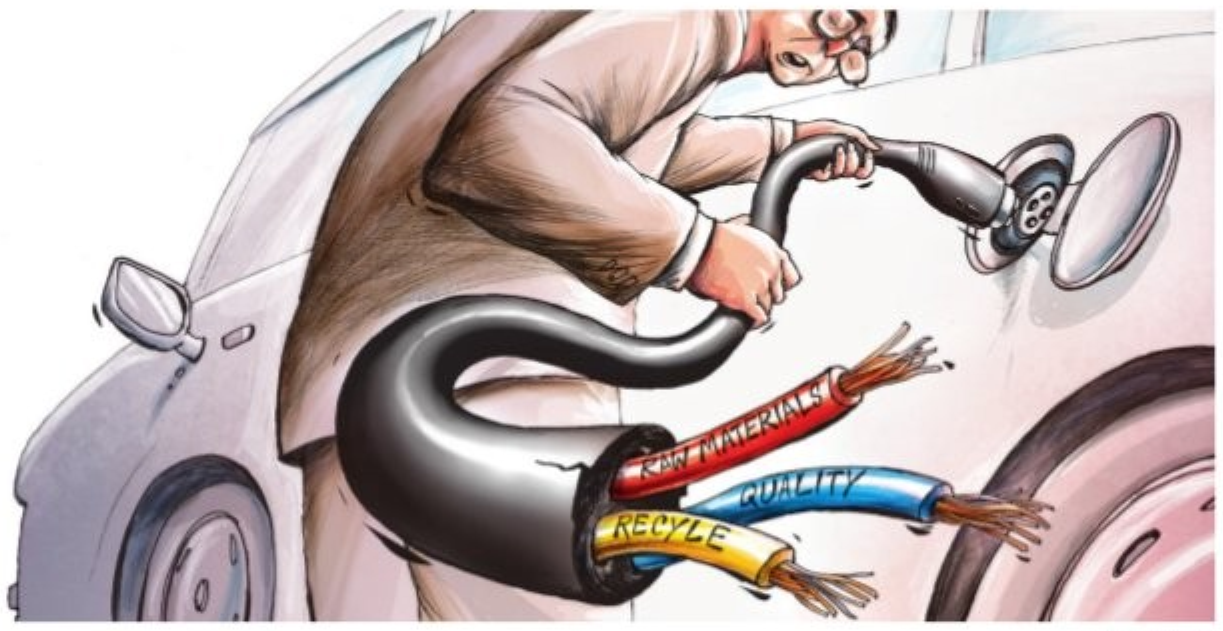
Three incidents grabbed public attention in Karnataka in the past week—the arrest of senior IPS officer Amrit Paul for his alleged involvement in a police recruitment scam, the arrest of IAS officer Manjunath J on corruption charges, and the High Court judge revealing in open court about a transfer threat by the ADGP of the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB). Judge H P Sandesh, who was monitoring the ACB cases, termed the agency a “collection centre” and observed “the whole state is mired in corruption”. It was an indictment that spared no public office. The ACB is responsible for vigilance in government departments and collecting intelligence on bribery and corruption among officials. But here is a case of the fence eating the crop and points to something suspiciously rotten in Karnataka.

Allegations of corruption against government officials are not rare, but they are being exposed with surprising regularity ever since the BJP government took charge. The Contractors' Association probably blew the lid off the biggest scam after a contractor ended his life, alleging that government officials charged a 40% commission for approving contracts. The name of former minister and influential Kuruba leader K S Eshwarappa surfaced, forcing him to resign. The Opposition is going hammer and tongs at the BJP, naming powerful leaders and ministers in the PSI recruitment scam. It is to be seen where the mud finally sticks.

It is a sad trend that IAS and IPS officers are being put behind bars. The bureaucracy was once a hallowed service, and officers inspired young Indians to make a career for themselves in civil services. In the case of Karnataka, Amrit Paul was serving as ADGP-Recruitment. Manjunath was Deputy Commissioner of Bengaluru Urban. As expected, the government suspended the officers. When institutions fall prey to the canker of dishonesty and the taint of compromise, it is heartening that upright judicial officers like Justice Sandesh vow to uphold the independence of the judiciary at any cost. This is especially so when even Supreme Court judges are not spared the finger of accusation.

The government and several entrepreneurs want to manufacture electric vehicle (EV) batteries in the country but access to three key minerals is the issue

QUALITY ISSUES MAR INDIA'S EV JOURNEY



SOUMYADIP SINHA

PROSENJIT DATTA

Senior business journalist

India's journey towards an electric vehicle (EV) future is both rapid and commendable. The Union government set ambitious goals and offered incentives for EV manufacturers. Multiple state governments also came up with incentives to make EVs more affordable. A large number of start-ups today crowd the electric two-wheelers sector. Established giants of internal combustion engine (ICE) two-wheelers are introducing their models. Domestic auto players—Tata Motors and Mahindra—got into EVs offering a robust range to customers long before their global counterparts entered the country with their offers.

However, India's EV growth is also suffering from the same haphazard policy and planning issues that created growth hurdles in many manufacturing sectors. The issues include a late start in securing critical metals needed for batteries that will be crucial to the growth of the EV sector, a lack of proper quality standards and monitoring, and finally a lack of planning for the disposal and recycling of EVs—especially EV batteries when they reach the end of their lives.

Though the government as well as multiple entrepreneurs talk about plans for EV battery manufacturing in India, the truth is that most of the EV batteries sold in India are made in assembly operations, importing nearly everything from China and then putting their labels on the finished product. This is because China dominates both lithium and cobalt processing and battery manufacturing. Nickel, the third metal needed for EV batteries, is not quite in such short supply as the other two but its prices are also affected by any disruption.

While China also has reserves of all these three metals, their position at the top of the global EV battery supply pecking order has more to do with their processing capacities and their mining rights in other countries than the number of mines they have within their borders. The Lithium Triangle in Latin America—Chile, Bolivia and Argentina—has the world's largest currently known reserves of the metal. The Democratic Republic of Congo, meanwhile, is the largest source of cobalt at present, supplying over two-thirds of the world's total output.

China and the developed countries led by the US are jockeying for control of the world's richest lithium and cobalt mines, spending substantial amounts of money lobbying with governments owning these companies. Chinese and US mining companies already have significant mining concessions in mineral-rich countries. Unless alternate battery chemistry breakthroughs happen, it is very likely that China, the US and EU countries will significantly control the supply chain for minerals required for EV batteries.

India, meanwhile, has moved quite slowly to secure its own interest. When the jostling for mines that would play a key role in the EV revolution began a few years ago, India had a good chance to get into the game quickly but took time to figure out what is happening. It set up the Khanij Bidesh India Ltd (KABIL), which is working with governments in Australia, Chile, Bolivia and Argentina for lithium and cobalt supplies, but players from China and the US are also in the fray. They also have deeper pockets. In the case of cobalt, China took a big lead in the Democratic Republic of Congo, and Chinese-owned- and-financed companies dominate the mining of cobalt, nudging out even the US companies.

Issues include a late start in securing critical metals needed for batteries that will be crucial to the growth of the EV sector, a lack of proper quality standards and monitoring, and finally a lack of planning for the disposal and recycling of EVs—especially EV batteries when they reach the end of their lives

In lithium's case, Australia remains the biggest producer of the mineral (though it does not have the largest reserves) and the US and EU countries are in a better state in the Great Game. India, in all probability, will have to settle for a marginal role and depend on others for its own supplies.

This is not the only issue in the Indian EV journey. The spate of battery fires in EV two-wheelers once again highlights poor quality control and monitoring at both the corporate as well as government levels. The government took note of these shortcomings and is beginning to look at the quality control measures of the players. But it needs to move faster and set stringent quality standards and ensure that these are met by the manufacturers. India has a real chance to dominate the two-wheeler EV segment in the world but it cannot afford to develop a reputation for being a country where quality control is lax.

Finally, there is the third issue that the Indian policy-makers need to work on immediately—the disposal and recycling of end-of-life EV products. This is particularly important for two reasons. One, in a decade or so, the number of EV batteries that will need to be disposed of will become significant. Two, a proper recycling policy and its implementation can actually help India reduce its dependence on raw materials from abroad.

The EU already passed a regulation that sets targets for progressively increasing the proportion of recycled materials in the manufacture of batteries every five years. The objective is to reduce dependency on imports and ensure that their industry is sustainable. That is what India needs as well. But for that to materialise, policymakers need to take a long-term view. The question is whether they are methodically planning for the future.

STARTUP PREMIER LEAGUE: INVESTORS VS CUSTOMERS

ANURADHA GOYAL

Author and founder of IndiTales

For various reasons, emails from start-up founders reach my mailbox. Some want to work with me as bloggers, some just want to bounce ideas, and by some stretch of imagination, some want me to invest in their businesses or be their brand ambassador. I enjoy listening to new ideas and business models so at times we end up talking.

Last week a founder wrote to me identifying himself by his company name. He insisted he will reveal details only on a call, and his perseverance had us talking. Since I am well-travelled, he wanted me to help him identify and connect with vendors across India. He then would want me to promote the products and business online. All this was expected from me as charity to help a start-up. When I asked, what are you going to do, his prompt answer was, I will raise the capital. I know investors who are willing to invest.

This is a perfect example of start-ups that start from investors rather than from having an idea or a problem to solve. Once the investor is identified, they search for an idea sitting with friends or while driving on the road. Plan is to outsource every operation to show a skeleton business that can raise money. They are people looking for a problem or creating a problem that does not exist.

'We want people to be so lazy that they order everything online', I heard Ashneer Grover talk about Grofers, now called Blinkit. They should not step out to shop like the previous generations. The implied meaning is that once this habit is formed, you can always milk the customer.

So, we have headline-worthy sensational service launches like 10 Minute Grocery Delivery. The human race has been managing groceries ever since it settled down, and do you really think this is the biggest problem to solve?

Let us analyse a typical order. You order two items of grocery. Assume it does come in 10 minutes, though you need to add the time taken to order—say 5–10 minutes depending on user comfort with the App. If one item is wrongly delivered or missing, which happens often in quick deliveries, you spend the next 30–45 minutes talking to their customer care, losing all the advantage of the 10-minute delivery and your peace of mind as well. Customer care calls raise your blood pressure levels for sure. I hope someone is conducting a formal study on this. Now the standard response is—we will refund for wrong delivery, please place a new order for the missing item.

Now what is happening here is that the company has doubled its number of orders, for the same order value. It also shows a repeat order from the same customer. Both the parameters can be served on a platter to investors. It is not without a reason that they insist you download the App and share your details. All this adds to their customer database which has the potential to attract investors way before the company thinks of serving customers.

Investors and customers are two sources of money for the business. Investors come with easy money in big chunks—all you have to do is impress a few people managing money for high network individuals with loads of money. ... Customers, on the other hand, pay you in little chunks for the product or service you deliver to them

Years ago, one of the biggest e-commerce companies was sending me fake bills of purchase on my email Id. When I wrote to the founder CEO who is quite a celebrity in the start-up world, he did not deny that these were fake orders on an email that was never registered on their website.

Customer and revenue data bloating is a reality. Zilingo's recent financial improprieties including revenue padding is a case in point here. Now if investors cannot see this or they choose to ignore, it is a reflection of their capability and integrity.

Investors and customers are two sources of money for the business. Investors come with easy money in big chunks—all you have to do is impress a few people managing money for high network individuals with loads of money. There are ample resources available to help you create an impressive pitch for investors using metrics and jargon that they like to hear.

Customers, on the other hand, pay you in little chunks for the product or service you deliver to them. You need to work hard to win the customer's trust that would eventually turn into revenue for you, a part of which would be your profit. You need to delight customers on an everyday basis to keep them on your side.

Few bad experiences and the customer will look at your competition who would be more than happy to oblige. It seems easy to ignore customers or fool them when you are floating in easy investor money. However, if you are really building a business and not just playing the investment game, it is this customer revenue that would keep your business running profitably as well as provide the returns that your investors funded you for.

At the moment, in this battle between pleasing the investors and customers, the former seems to be winning hands down. Are we celebrating the non-profit making businesses too early? It is a topic for another day.

Clean politics

This is with reference to the news Take steps to stop criminals from entering politics: HC (July 6). Justice Dinesh Kumar Singh has rightly expressed concern over the growing number of criminals who enter the realm of politics. It is shocking to see that the number has increased from 24% in 2004 to 43% in 2019. And this actually points to the nature of the Indian political fabric—the nonchalance with regard to ethics and values. Even though the Supreme Court has specifically stated that electoral reforms are the need of the hour, Parliament has still not addressed this. The only way to bring these reforms is to allow the Election Commission and the investigative agencies complete autonomy. But the question is: Will that be done?

R Sridharan, Chennai

Free hand to criminals

This is with reference to 117 ex-judges, officers condemn SC remarks (July 6). The news coverage for this is interesting and I completely agree with it. The judges ought not to have passed such comments. It gives a free hand to criminals to resort to murders at the slightest provocation.

More innovations

I completely agree with the views expressed in the editorial Varanasi summit: Second coming of Mahamana (July 6). When academic autonomy is provided to teachers at the higher education level, it awakens the creativity of the teachers both in urban and rural areas, giving rise to an abundance of innovation. And when these innovations spring up, the office of NAAC must publish these in a handbook that can be circulated online as well as in the form of hard copies. This will be the starting point for many more innovations.

Compensate them

This is with reference to Revise indemnity for wrongful conception (July 6). It has underlined a very sensitive issue. A mere ₹50,000 is certainly not enough for childcare. Failed family planning procedures must be fixed and couples should be given adequate compensation.

Ananya touches the sky

This is with reference to Dad, daughter fly fighter planes in formation (July 6). This spectacle was nothing short of a shattered glass ceiling when Flying Officer Ananya Sharma flew in formation with her father Commodore Sanjay Sharma. In a society where a woman becoming a fighter pilot is frowned upon, she achieved her dream with the support of her parents. This sets an example for other young girls who want to soar to the skies.

Parthasarathy Mandadi, Tirupati

India is proud

Flying officer Ananya Sharma has taught us how to set and achieve a goal in life. I even got goosebumps when she saluted her father. She has not only made her father proud and but also us all. Even the sky is not the limit.

Cost of consent

This is with reference to the article Woman tortured by villagers, including husband (July 5). It is sad to note that this woman was targeted by a group of men for a consensual 'crime'. These moralistic 'machos' need to be educated better. Treating a woman like this is derogatory and absolutely patriarchal and misogynistic. Society needs to change.

Blunders galore

As expected, Minister Saji Cherian was quick to blame the media and opposition that his words have been distorted, giving an impression that those who witnessed his diatribe are at fault. Instead, he should have tendered an apology which would have earned at least a semblance of empathy for his ministerial gaffe.

Constitution and state of 'census'

States can collect data of the population but power to hold 'census' is vested with Centre

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

AS the Bihar government is gearing up for a 'caste-based census', the question in everyone's minds is whether the states are legally empowered to hold such enumeration of population?

The clamour for 'caste census' by many political parties, including NDA allies, has been growing, putting the Centre on the backfoot. Many states are keen to emulate Bihar.

However, legal and constitutional experts are of the opinion that since the Census operation comes under the Union list, states are not empowered to conduct the same. They can only collect statistics or data of the population.

Several parties have been pushing for a nationwide 'caste census' to enumerate the Socially Economically Backward Classes and OBCs. The caste-based parties argue that athough the Mandal Commission estimated the OBC population at 52%, in the absence of a reliable data, the backward classes are losing out on welfare schemes and programmes meant for them. Though the Congress-led UPA government conducted a Socio-Economic Caste Census in 2011, the report was never published.

Constitutional expert PDT Achary points out that the decennial census is conducted by the Census Commissioner of India under the Census of India Act, 1948. "The state does not have the power to conduct a census. The states can collect data or headcount of the population for the implementation of welfare schemes or other purposes," he said, adding that a state survey will only lead to more complexities.

> The state does not have the power to conduct a census. The states can collect data or headcount of the population for the implementation of welfare schemes or other purposes
>
> PDT Achary, constitutional expert

Experts say states can conduct their own 'survey'. Prof G. Mohan Gopal, former director, National Judicial Academy, said, "This may be done either under existing state legislation and rules or a new legislation may be enacted under item 45 of List III (Concurrent List) of the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution for socio-economic development of the state."

COUNTING NUMBERS

- Central govt accepted recommendations to use Socio-Economic Caste Census in 2017. It helps in identification of beneficiaries and transferring of funds for social schemes
- Aims to bring out the unseen aspects of caste groups and their share in resources
- Long pending demand of many parties including NDA allies for a national caste-based census to identify the Socially Economically Backward Classes /OBCs
- Centre is clear about not holding caste-based survey; will only enumerate the SCs and STs in the 2021 census
- 1931 was the last time population figures were collected on the basis of caste
- The Congress-led UPA govt conducted a separate Socio-Economic Caste Census (SECC) in 2011, but the report was never published
- Now, Bihar govt is bracing for caste -based survey in the state
- Many states may follow suit

CHINA'S 5G NETWORK ALONG LAC TROUBLES INDIAN FORCES

SUMIT KUMAR SINGH
@ New Delhi

INDIAN armed forces posted along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) are facing problem in radio communication as China rolls out 5G network along the border areas on its side.

Source said that a strange booming sound is heard in communication equipment due to the 5G waves which China is using on their side of the LAC. This has left the authorities concerned in India scrambling to find a solution to deal with the pressing problem.

"The Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) is working to find a permanent solution to the emerging problem," said a source, adding, "Plans are being discussed to launch a new satellite to be used for the Indian armed forces which will help in using the K-band frequency."

This frequency would not be open to the general public or for commercial use. "It would be kept aside to be used only by the defence forces and for radio astronomy," said the source.

Taking about the problems in the communication network the Indian troops posted at the northern borders are facing, Ravi Gupta, a former defence scientist, told The New Indian Express, "If at all there is any problem in the communication equipment due to the 5G used by China at northern borders, the DRDO is capable enough to resolve it."

While China has rolled out 5G across the LAC, there is a lack of mobile network in the border areas on the Indian side. Konchok Stanzin, Councillor of Chushul in Ladakh, has been flagging the poor network in the border areas. On June 2, he once again raised the issue through twitter. "Requesting from ground zero for 4G in border villages. Chushul constituency's villages are still deprived of better communication facilities. Don't treat us as second class citizens. My villages are not normal; these villages are border villages, treated as a priority," he tweeted.

He also stated that China, after completing the bridge over the Pangong Lake, has installed three mobile towers near Hot Spring very close to the Indian territory. "Isn't it a concern? We don't even have 4G facilities in human habitation villages; 11 villages in my constituency have no 4G facilities."

China has recently constructed a bridge at Pangong Lake to which India has objected.

India shares 3,488 kilometers of border with China that runs along the states of Jammu and Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Sikkim and Arunachal Pradesh. As the border is not clearly demarcated, there are disputes over territories in several areas. Both the countries have been locked in a military standoff since the Galwan Valley clash in 2020 and several rounds of military and diplomatic talks have taken place to resolve the issue.

FIR against Mahua for remark on Kali, MP stays unfazed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE row over Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra's comments on Goddess Kali intensified with a case being lodged against her in Bhopal on Wednesday and the West Bengal BJP demanding her arrest even as her party distanced itself from the firebrand parliamentarian.

A day after Moitra sparked a controversy saying she was within her rights "to imagine Goddess Kali as a meat-eating and alcohol-accepting goddess", the TMC MP dared the BJP to have her arrested. "Bring it on BJP! Am a Kali worshipper. I am not afraid of anything. Not your ignoramuses. Not your goons. Not your police. And most certainly not your trolls. Truth doesn't need back up forces," she tweeted.

> Bring it on BJP! Am a Kali worshipper. I am not afraid of anything... Truth doesn't need back up forces
>
> Mahua Moitra, TMC MP

Moitra's tweet came after the Madhya Pradesh Police registered an FIR under Section 295A (outraging religious feelings) of IPC against her in Bhopal. "We will not tolerate disrespect to any Hindu gods and goddesses at any cost," MP Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan said.

While the TMC had condemned Moitra's comments and distancing itself from the same, Congress MP Shashi Tharoor said he was "taken aback by the attack" and urged people to "lighten up and leave religion" to individuals to practice privately".

Reacting to Moitra's remarks, her colleague in Parliament, Saugata Roy said, "The party does not endorse her remark.. As a responsible political party, we do not want to get involved in any religious controversy as we respect all religions".

The BJP, however, upped the ante by not only demanding Moitra's arrest but threatening to move the court if the police did not take any action against her in 10 days. Claiming that several police complaints had been lodged against Moitra across Bengal, leader of Opposition in the Assembly Suvendu Adhikari said, "The TMC government and police have been very active in seeking action against Nupur Sharma. But they have not taken any action against Moitra".

The BJP's Mahila Morcha staged a protest in Kolkata, demanding Moitra's arrest.

Echoing Adhikari's threat, Bengal BJP president Sukanta Majumdar too demanded Moitra's arrest while claiming that "according to Sanatan Hindu dharma norms, Goddess Kali is never worshipped as a goddess who consumes alcohol and meat. Hindus have been revering Goddess Kali for ages as a symbol of power against evil."

Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi at his residence in New Delhi after he submitted his resignation to Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday | PTI

Who'll be the V-P? Buzz after Naqvi's resignation

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

WITH the resignation of Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi from the Union cabinet, the buzz on his candidature for the vice-presidential elections got stronger on Wednesday. Naqvi and RCP Singh resigned from the Cabinet on Wednesday a day before the completion of their Rajya Sabha terms. They had failed to get renominated during the recent polls for the Upper House.

Naqvi's resignation, particularly, created a buzz as his name has been doing the rounds as NDA's nominee for the V-P's post. Sources in BJP said the PM appreciated Naqvi's performances as Minister for Minority Affairs and his contribution as a Rajya Sabha member for three terms. According to some sources in the party, the PM's praise was an indicator that Naqvi may get further Constitutional assignment.

Considered a key Muslim face of the BJP, Naqvi had also been a Lok Sabha member for one term. He defended the Modi government on many controversial issues, including the triple talaq and the loudspeakers removal campaign.

"Wait, everything will clear in just a couple of days as Naqvi sahab is being accommodated somewhere. He is an experience parliamentarian, capable of discharging any constitutional responsibility assigned to him in the larger interest of nation," remarked a senior BJP leader, dropping a hint about his possible future assignment, either as the L-G of Jammu and Kashmir or as the vice-president.

Venkaiah Naidu, Amarinder Singh, Arif Mohammad Khan and Nazma Heptullah are the other leaders whose names have been doing the rounds for the V-P's post.

RCP Singh, who was holding the Steel ministry from the JD-U quota, also resigned a day before his RS term ends. There's a buzz in the political corridors that he may join the saffron party along with some of his supporters. He was denied ticket for the Rajya Sabha polls by his party, the JD-U.

Gap between Covid second dose & booster reduced from 9 to 6 months

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Centre on Wednesday reduced the gap between the second and the third (booster) doses of Covid-19 vaccine from existing nine months to six months. The booster dose can now be taken by all beneficiaries in the 18-59 age-group at paid private vaccination centres.

The decision came after the Standing Technical Sub-Committee of the National Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation (NTAGI) last month recommended reducing the gap between the second and the third or booster doses, given the evolving scientific evidence and global practices. The NTAGI endorsed the recommendation, said the Union Health Ministry in a statement.

"It has now been decided that the precaution dose for all beneficiaries from 18-59 years will be administered after completion of six months or 26 weeks from the date of administration of the second dose at a private vaccination centre," Union Health Secretary Rajesh Bhushan wrote to the states and Union Territories.

For beneficiaries aged above 60 years, as well as the healthcare and frontline workers, the precaution dose would be administered after completion of six months at government vaccination centres free of cost, the letter said.

Corresponding changes have been made in the CoWin system to facilitate the new system. Instructions in this regard may be issued to all the concerned officials, and it may also be publicised widely, Bhushan added.

He said that the state government should extend the benefits of precaution dose to all due beneficiaries at Covid Vaccination Centers as well as at the household level during the ongoing two-month-long 'Har Ghar Dastak 2.0' campaign to expedite Covid-19 vaccination coverage.

In May, the government had allowed those travelling abroad to get the booster dose before the nine-month period as required by the guidelines of the destination country.

Carrier woes: Vistara reports engine failure, cabin smoke in IndiGo

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

INDIA'S domestic carriers continue to encounter turbulence in the skies and on ground. A day after SpiceJet hit the headlines after one of its planes being forced to land in Karachi after a technical glitch and another one's windshield cracking up at 23,000 feet, it was the turn of Vistara and IndiGo on Wednesday.

The engine of a Vistara aircraft (A320) failed shortly after the Bangkok-Delhi flight landed at Indira Gandhi International Airport. All passengers disembarked safely, however. The airline attributed the engine failure on Tuesday to a "minor electrical malfunction".

In the second incident which was also reported on the same day, smoke was seen bellowing from the cabin of an IndiGo plane after the Raipur-Indore flight landed. All passengers were reported safe.

The Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) has ordered separate inquiries into the two incidents that came to light a day after the regulator sent a notice to SpiceJet for unusually high number of incidents involving its fleet during the past three weeks.

DGCA chief Arun Kumar, however, said that more than 30 incidents are reported on an average every day, which include go-around, missed approaches, diversion, medical emergencies and bird hits. Most of them have no safety implications, he asserted in a statement and added, "On the contrary, they are sine qua non (essential condition) of a robust safety management system."

Last month, Vistara was asked to pay ₹10 lakh as penalty by the DGCA for allowing a co-pilot to land an aircraft in Indore despite not having the requisite training in a simulator. The airline had apologised for the "regrettable violation".

RLYS HOPES UP FOR BULLET TRAIN AFTER MAHA CHANGE

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

IF there's one central ministry which could be explicitly happy about the change of government in Maharashtra, it is the Railways. Ministry officials now see a ray of hope for the completion of PM Narendra Modi's ambitious Mumbai-Ahmedabad High Speed bullet train project.

The land acquisition process for the 155-km rail route falling within Maharashtra is likely to get a boost following a positive statement by the new CM Eknath Shinde. The work on the project remained stalled mainly due to the delay in land acquisition because of the "lackadaisical stand" of the previous Udhav Thackeray-led MVA government.

At a recent event in Ahmedabad, Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnav appeared hopeful about the PM's dream project. He told the media that with the change of government in Maharashtra, the Railways "has turned more active" in pursuing the bullet train project. Senior railway officials say more than 98.95% work on the land acquisition front in the BJP-ruled Gujarat is over for the 384-km project.

"In Gujarat, 100% tenders for both civil and mechanical works for the bullet train project are out. The work has progressed to some noticeable extent on Gujarat side," said a senior railway official.

Quoting details of progress made on Gujarat side, the official said of the total 352 km stretch in Gujarat and Dadra & Nagar Haveli, the Railways has started civil works from December 2020. "The railways is working day and night to conduct the first trial run of the bullet train in Gujarat by 2026 between Surat and Bilimora at an operational speed of 320 kmph at which a plan takes off generally," said an official. The cost of the entire project is over ₹1 lakh crore.

The Railways is also working to construct bridges on the route across eight rivers.

Special slab track system along the entire route

To run the bullet train at 320 kmph, a special slab track system will have to be put in place throughout the route. The track will pass via Mumbai, Thane and Palghar in Maharashtra, and Valsad, Navsari, Surat, Bharuch, Vadodara, Anand, Kheda and Ahmedabad in Gujarat.

Prophet row, Agnipath may be discussed at RSS meet in Rajasthan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

A three-day meeting of Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) is beginning in Rajastan's Jhunjhunu from Thursday. The saffron body's top functionaries including Sangh chief Mohan Bhagwat, general secretary Dattatrey Hosabale and many others are participating in the annual meet, which is expected to deliberate critical issues that have rocked the country recently.

The choice of the venue assumes significance as the RSS meeting comes close on the heels of the beheading of a tailor in Udaipur for supporting former Nupur Sharma over her comments against the Prophet, which evoked global outrage. The issue may figure in the meeting, according to a source.

However another Sangh functionary said it's an annual meeting of the Sangh and it will stick to matters concerning the organisation.

A statement by senior Sangh functionary Sunil Ambekar said the meeting will discuss the Sangh's expansion plans as well as centenary celebrations, as the Sangh turns 100 in 2025. "RSS' centenary celebrations and expansion plans are the agenda of the meeting," the statement added.

However, sources said the leaders are also likely to discuss vexed issues such as the new defence recruitment scheme Agnipath, which evoked country-wide protests. The controversy surrounding Gyanvapi Masjid may also come up in the meeting, according to sources. Bhagwat has recently said there is no need to look for the 'Shiving' in all mosques and the issue should be resolved amicably.

Coast Guard rescues 22 from sinking vessel

The Global King-1 ship was on passage from UAE to Karwar in India

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

PERSONNEL of the Indian Coast Guard (ICG) rescued 22 people in the Arabian sea, 185 km from Porbandar coast in Gujarat, after a distress alert was received on Wednesday. All 22 crew (20 Indians and one each from Pakistan and Sri Lanka) are safe and are being brought to Porbandar.

"Around 8.20 am, the ICG received a distress alert regarding uncontrolled flooding onboard merchant vessel Global King-1. The ship was reportedly 185 km off the Porbandar coast. The ICG immediately responded and alerted all stakeholders. Despite adverse weather conditions, one Dornier aircraft was launched from Porbandar at 9 am for assessment of the situation and relaying of information to the vessels in the vicinity," the Coast Guard said in a statement.

"The Dornier on reaching the area dropped a life raft for the crew. ICG Ship Shoor and CG Offshore Patrol Vessel (OPV) already at sea were also directed to immediately reach the area," said the release.

A Dornier aircraft, two indigenously-built twin-engine Advanced Light Helicopters, and two ships were involved in the search and rescue operation, a senior ICG official said, adding that the crew members were picked up by the choppers and ships from the sea.

The ICG ship braving rough seas proceeded to the area. The indigenously acquired twin-engine Advanced Light Helicopters from ICG Air Station Porbandar were also launched in Search & Rescue (SAR) configuration for any eventuality. The helicopters operated close to their operational maximum and braved squally weather and strong winds to reach the area. Thereafter, in a sea-air coordinated effort, all 22 personnel were successfully rescued, the release said.

ICG Inspector General, (North West), Anil Kumar Harbola, said, "In the morning we got the information from our Maritime Rescue Coordination Centre, Mumbai, which is handled by the Coast Guard, that a ship which was on the passage from Khor Fakkan (UAE) to Karwar (India) got flooded in between."

He added: "When our helicopters reached the area (where the vessel was sinking), the scared crew members had already abandoned the ship. They were picked up by the choppers and ships diverted by us."

> When our helicopters reached the area, the scared crew members had already abandoned the ship. They were picked up by the choppers and ships diverted by us —Anil Kumar Harbola, ICG Inspector General (North West)

CREW LIFTED AMID ADVERSE WEATHER CONDITIONS

The merchant vessel, Global King-1, was transporting 6,000-tonne bitumen from Khor Fakkan (UAE) to Karwar (Karnataka). The crew, after failing to stop the flooding onboard the ship, abandoned the vessel. Earlier in the day, the India Meteorological Department had said that extremely heavy rainfall may occur on July 8 and 9 at some places in Porbandar and five other districts of Gujarat due to the low-pressure area over the Kutch region. Meanwhile, heavy rains have disrupted normal life in Gir Somnath and Junagadh districts.

For 1st time, no Cong in UP Council

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Lucknow

FOR the first time in the last 135 years, the Congress now has zero representation in Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council, with its lone member, Deepak Singh, getting retired on Wednesday after the completion of his tenure.

This is for the first time in the history of the UP Legislative Council that the Congress will have zero representation in the upper house of state legislature. The Legislative Council was formed in the United Province on Jan. 5, 1887 and its first meeting was held on Jan. 8, 1887 at Thornhill Memorial Hall of the then Allahabad. Since then, the Council has always had Congress representatives.

Singh was among the 10 members who retired from UP Vidhan Parishad on Wednesday, the others being Samajwadi Party leaders Jagjivan Prasad, Balram Yadav, Dr Kamlesh Kumar Pathak, Ranvijay Singh, Ramsunder Nishad and Shatruddha Prakash; and Atar Singh Rao, Suresh Kumar Kashyap and Dinesh Chandra of the BSP. The tenure of two BJP MLCs — Keshav Maurya and Chaudhury Bhupendra Singh — also ended on Wednesday but both were re-elected in the polls held in mid-June for 13 seats of Vidhan Parishad.

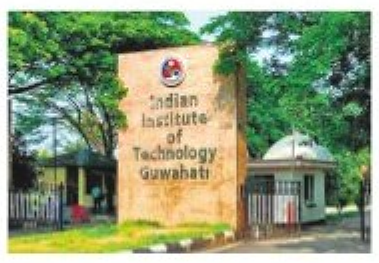
Ropeway fares slashed following floods

With ferry services suspended due to rising water level in the Brahmaputra amid the floods, the Guwahati Metropolitan Development Authority (GMDA) is offering concessional rates for the ropeway service over the river. The GMDA said one way fare had been brought down to ₹50 from ₹100 for commuters. It is ₹25 (one way) for the students. However, the students will be required to produce their valid identity card at the counters to avail tickets. The concessional rates will be offered from 8.30 am to 10.30 am and 4.30 pm to 6.30 pm aimed at the working population which commute to the city from across the river.

IIT develops 'power-free' radiative cooler

Researchers at Indian Institute of Technology, Guwahati (IITG) has designed an affordable 'passive' radiative cooling system that does not require electricity to operate. This 'radiative cooler' coating material is an electricity-free cooling system and alternate to conventional air-conditioners. Passive radiative cooling systems operate by emitting the heat absorbed from the surrounding in the form of infrared radiations that can pass through the atmosphere before getting dumped into the cold outer space, the IITG said. "Most passive radiative coolers operate only at night. For the day, these coolers need to reflect entire solar radiation as well. Our researchers resolved these issues" the institute said.



Assam boosts 'organic' ties with Singapore

Assam has strengthened its 'organic relationship' with Singapore by signing a letter of intent (LoI), signed between the Assam Industrial Development Corporation and the Singapore-headquartered urban infra giant Surbana Jurong. Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma stated the signing of the LoI would add a new strength to Assam's ties with the island nation. He stressed on the need for a master plan to transform Guwahati into a world-class city. The expertise of Surbana Jurong in the field of urban development would be of immense help towards achieving this goal of elevating the state's capital, the chief minister said.

SC Judge's remarks don't suit Modi, so BJP attacking judiciary, alleges Singhvi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CONGRESS spokesperson Abhishek Manu Singhvi on Wednesday alleged that since the Supreme Court judge's remarks on former BJP spokesperson Nupur Sharma do not suit the ruling party, the BJP has been deliberately attacking the judiciary in an organised manner, with an objective to demoralise it.

Himself a Supreme Court advocate, Singhvi arrived here close on the heels of Karnataka High Court judge Justice H P Sandesh commenting on the Anti Corruption Bureau (ACB) in Karnataka not acting swiftly against corrupt bureaucrats, and facing a transfer threat.

Addressing a joint press conference with KPCC President D K Shivakumar, Singhvi said he would write to the Chief Justice of India to set up a special committee to probe the case of the judge facing the threat of transfer. "He has uplifted the honour of the judiciary by his remarks on the ACB. These threats to exert pressure on the judiciary are not new after 2014," he remarked.

As the narrative following the Supreme Court's observation on Nupur Sharma was unpleasant for the Central government, the BJP's IT cell trolled the judges, he alleged.

"It is a disturbing issue as these attacks are not just random but organised, orchestrated, standardised and institutionalised," he said, and questioned the integrity of the BJP which had rejoiced the SC's clean chit to Prime Minister Narendra Modi on the Godhra riots, but unleashed a vicious attack on the judges.

Singhvi pointed out that the LeT terrorist arrested in Jammu and Kashmir was the IT cell chief of the BJP. He also came down heavily on the Uttar Pradesh government as the police from that state had obstructed the Chhattisgarh police from arresting a news anchor who had telecast a doctored video of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi.

Loyalists want Azad as Congress J&K CM candidate

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

WITH the Congress set to replace its Jammu and Kashmir Congress chief Ghulam Ahmed Mir, the loyalists of Ghulam Nabi Azad have amplified their demand that the former chief minister be declared as the party's CM candidate ahead of the Assembly polls in J&K.

The Assembly election in J&K is likely to be held later this year after the revision of electoral rolls in October.

Congress leader and former MLC, Ghulam Nabi Monga said Azad is acceptable to people in Jammu as well as Kashmir. "People still recall his good governance when he was the CM. He has a clean image," said Monga, an ex-senior vice president of J&K Congress.

Azad has a support base in Doda, Kishtwar, Poonch and Rajouri districts of Jammu province, besides some influence in the main Jammu district.

Monga said if Azad is named as the CM candidate, it will definitely increase the party's chances of winning the polls.

Another Congress leader and Azad loyalist echoed the demand, saying, "He can unify the party and increase its winning chances. The party needs to take a quick decision so that he can start preparations for the elections." Pointing out that the Congress is currently a divided party in J&K,he added, "It is a directionless party now and needs a person like Azad who can unify the party and rejuvenate the demoralised cadres," he added.

Another Congress leader Mohammad Amin Bhat had said earlier that Congress is zero without Azad in J&K.

SC order on rebel MLAs to decide Shinde govt's fate

SC to hear petition on July 11

According to sources, CM Eknath Shinde and his deputy Devendra Fadnavis have decided to go for the cabinet expansion after July 11. The Shiv Sena led by Uddhav Thackeray has filed a petition for the disqualification of rebel MLAs for violating the party whip and working against the party interests. The SC will hear the petition on July 11.

> We have won the Speaker's poll and proved our majority. The court's verdict will clear the way for our government
> Rebel Sena MLA

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

CHIEF Minister Eknath Shinde proved his majority on the floor of the House, but his ministry's expansion hangs in the air due to a plea in the Supreme Court urging disqualification of rebel Shiv Sena MLAs.

Sources said the Maharashtra CM and his deputy Devendra Fadnavis have decided to go for the cabinet expansion after July 11.

The Shiv Sena led by Uddhav Thackeray has filed a petition for the disqualification of rebel Shiv Sena MLAs for violating the party whip and working against the party interests. The Supreme Court will hear the petition on July 11.

"We are not in a hurry for the cabinet expansion. The Supreme Court verdict will be very significant that will actually decide the fate of the government. Shinde figures on the list of the disqualified MLAs," said a rebel Sena MLA.

"Meanwhile, we have won the Speaker's election and proved our majority on the floor of the House. The court decision will further clear the way for our government," said the rebel MLA.

"We are the real Shiv Sena. Even then, they are knocking the court's door. They should stop now. Once we get a breather from these court cases, we will surely expand the cabinet," Shinde said. The party's rebel MLA Gulabrao Patil, who was a minister in the Uddhav government, on Wednesday said his group will claim the 'bow and arrow' symbol of the Shiv Sena.

"We are carrying forward the legacy of Balasaheb Thackeray. We will take forward his and Sena's core Hindutva agenda forward. People are with us," Patil said.

Meanwhile, speculation is rife about the allocation of portfolios. As per the Maharashtra assembly strength, the incumbent government can allocate 42 ministers, including junior ministers. The Shinde camp has been demanding 12-15 ministries and asking the BJP to adjust independent MLAs and smaller parties from the BJP quota.

Cong challenges BJP's 27 years with showcase of its own rule in Gujarat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Ahmedabad

THE BJP on Tuesday launched the party's 'Vande Gujarat Vikas' Yatra" to spread awareness among the voters of poll-bound Gujarat about the development works under the BJP rule in over two decades.

The opposition Congress has decided to counter it with "27 years of Congress vs. 27 years of BJP."

Gujarat Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi said the party's focus was on 27 years of its governance. "We built infrastructure for all the groups. The party will keep up its fight for the rights of tribals, the youth, and the poor."

On the '27 years of Congress vs. 27 years of BJP,' Doshi said that before the BJP government came to power, Gujarat was as prosperous as it is today. "The BJP government is sending 'development chariots' to spread confusion among the people. If that party really developed the state, then there is no need for such yatras," said Doshi.

"We have decided to expose such false propaganda of the BJP in the coming elections. The Congress' '27 years of governance' campaign has been started on Wednesday. We will expose the state government's claims on works done for the tribal communities," said the state Congress chief.

He accused the BJP of having misused government schools for the Vikas Yatra. He said the state government issued a circular stating that children between the ages of 6 and 14 years studying in government primary schools would have to write essays and draw pictures on the government's 20-year development works.

"This circular asks each district officer to keep schools clean before the arrival of Gujarat Vikas Rath. The schools have also been told to organise 'prabhatpheris' (morning processions) with the participation of all the students and teachers," he said.

WATER WOES

Yet another Punjab bid to wean farmers off paddy cycle fails

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE Direct Seeding of Rice (DSR) technique for paddy, being promoted by the cash-strapped AAP government in Punjab by offering a financial incentive, is a nonstarter. The technique is aimed at replacing the decades-old water-guzzling paddy crop cultivation.

The government has offered an incentive of ₹1,500 per acre to farmers as it plans to bring 12 lakh hectares under the groundwater-saving technique. Most farmers have shown little interest in it as only 2.06 lakh hectares have come under the DSR in much less coverage than even last year's.

The technique involves cutting down the traditional Puddled Transplanting of Rice method. The farmers' unions held a meeting on Wednesday and decided to launch a struggle on the issue.

Sources said agriculture department officials are verifying the farmers' claims for the registered coverage of the new technique in 2.06 lakh hectares. The verification will continue until July 10, as paddy sowing will carry on up to July 25. Another verification will take place after July 25.

Last year, 5.62 lakh acres of land was under DSR by the end of the sowing season — the highest coverage recorded under DSR. In 2020, it was 5.40 lakh hectares and in 2019, 23,500 hectares came under DSR for paddy cultivation.

Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann has been promoting the DSR technique to curb depletion of groundwater.

Sources said heat waves in May-June and disrupted power supply during the paddy sowing period are the main reason for the reduced DSR coverage. Before the sowing takes place, the land needs to be moistened, a process that could not be followed due to power failures.

Groundwater is overexploited in 117 out of the 150 blocks. In the conventional puddling method, an estimated 5,000 gallons of water are required to produce a kg of rice.

Talking about the issue, Jhanda Singh, an office-bearer of Bharti Kisan Union (Ekta Ugrahan), the largest farmers' union of the state, said, "We have decided to launch a struggle on the issue, but the details are yet to be decided. The dip in the level of sub-soil water and the pollution of all water resources has turned into a huge crisis for the people of Punjab. Under the pretext of this crisis, the central and state governments have started allowing multinational firms to begin water trade."

AREA COVERED LESS THAN LAST YEAR'S

The Punjab government has offered an incentive of ₹1,500 per acre to farmers for adopting Direct Seeding of Rice (DSR) technique for paddy, as it plans to bring 12 lakh hectares under the groundwater-saving technique. Most farmers have shown little interest in it as only 2.06 lakh hectares have come under the DSR. Last year, 5.62 lakh acres of land was under DSR by the end of the sowing season.

BORIS FACES BIGGEST REVOLT

Senior ministers were set to tell Johnson that he must quit as Prime Minister of Britain

A video grab shows Britain's Prime Minister Johnson responding to questions at a parliamentary Liaison Committee hearing on Wednesday | AFP

LONDON

BRITISH Prime Minister Boris Johnson battled to remain in office Wednesday, shrugging off calls for his resignation after two top ministers and a slew of more than 30 junior ministers and ministerial aides, officials said they could no longer serve under his scandal-plagued leadership.

A delegation of Cabinet ministers planned to meet with him at his Downing Street office to press him to resign, Britain's Press Agency reported. Transport Secretary Grant Shapps and longtime loyalist Brandon Lewis were among those expected to demand that he quit.

Earlier Wednesday, members of the opposition Labour Party showered Johnson with shouts of "Go! Go!'' during the weekly ritual of Prime Minister's Questions in the House of Commons as critics argued the leader's days were numbered following his poor handling of sexual misconduct allegations against a senior official.

But more damningly, members of Johnson's own Conservative Party—wearied by the many scandals he has faced—also challenged their leader, with one asking whether there was anything that might prompt him to resign.

"Frankly … the job of the prime minister in difficult circumstances, when he's been handed a colossal mandate, is to keep going,'' Johnson replied with the bluster he has used to fend off critics throughout nearly three years in office. "And that's what I'm going to do."

But recent revelations that Johnson knew about sexual misconduct allegations against a lawmaker before he promoted the man to a senior position in his government have pushed him to the brink.

Many of his fellow Conservatives were concerned that Johnson no longer had the moral authority to govern at a time when difficult decisions are needed to address soaring food and energy prices, rising Covid-19 infections and the war in Ukraine.

Others worry that he may now be a liability at the ballot box.

Former Health Secretary Sajid Javid, who helped trigger the current crisis when he resigned Tuesday night, captured the mood of many lawmakers when he said Johnson's actions threatened to undermine the integrity of the Conservative Party and the British government.

"At some point we have to conclude that enough is enough," he told fellow lawmakers. "I believe that point is now."

Johnson's grilling in Parliament was the first of two Wednesday. He was also questioned by a committee of senior lawmakers.

Under current party rules, another no-confidence vote cannot be held for another 11 months, but party members can change that rule. Months of discontent over Johnson's judgment and ethics erupted when Javid and Treasury chief Rishi Sunak resigned within minutes of each other on Tuesday evening.

The two heavyweights of the Cabinet were responsible for tackling two of the biggest issues facing Britain—the cost-of-living crisis and the Covid-19 pandemic.

In a scathing letter, Sunak said: "The public rightly expect government to be conducted properly, competently and seriously. … I believe these standards are worth fighting for and that is why I am resigning."

Javid said the party needs "humility, grip and a new direction," but "it is clear this situation will not change under your leadership."

Crises that rocked UK's Boris Johnson

British PM Boris Johnson has been dealt a major blow with the resignation of two of his most senior Cabinet ministers, who said they had lost confidence in Johnson's leadership. The departures of Treasury chief Rishi Sunak and Health Secretary Sajid Javid came after months of turmoil for Johnson, who has fought off one scandal after another

HERE IS A TIMELINE OF KEY EVENTS THAT ROCKED BRITISH GOVERNMENT

NOV 3-4, 2021: Johnson orders Conservative lawmakers to support a change in ethics rules to delay the suspension of Owen Paterson, censured for breaching lobbying rules

NOV 30, 2021: British media alleged government officials attended parties during Nov and Dec 2020 in violation of lockdown rules. Johnson said there were no parties and no rules were broken

DEC 8, 2021: Johnson authorised investigation into the scandal, dubbed 'Partygate'

JAN 2022: Johnson's longtime aide, Munira Mirza, resigned

APRIL 12, 2022: Johnson was fined $63 for attending one of the lockdown parties

MAY 22, 2022: Findings of the 'Partygate' investigation detailed 16 gatherings at Johnson's home and office and other government offices between May 2020 and April 2021

JUNE 6, 2022: Johnson wins a vote of no confidence. But the scale of the revolt— some 41% voted against him, shook his grip on power

JUNE 24, 2022: Johnson's Conservatives lose two former strongholds to opposition parties in special elections

JUNE 30, 2022: Chris Pincher resigns as the Conservative deputy chief whip after allegedly assaulting two fellow guests

JULY 5, 2022: Johnson apologised for his handling of the Pincher scandal. Cabinet ministers, Rishi Sunak and Sajid Javid, resigned

Evacuations as Russia advances in Donbas

SLOVIANSK

THE evacuation of civilians from Sloviansk continued Wednesday as Russian troops pressed towards the eastern Ukrainian city in their campaign to control the Donbas region, as Ireland's prime minister visited Kyiv.

Sloviansk has been subjected to heavy bombardment in recent days as the invading Russian forces push westwards.

Around a third of the market in Sloviansk appeared to have been destroyed, with locals coming to see what was left among the charred wreckage.

The remaining part of the market was functioning, with a trickle of shoppers coming out to buy fruit and vegetables.

Mayor Vadym Lyakh said that around 23,000 people were still in Sloviansk but claimed Russia had been unable to surround the city.

"Since the beginning of hostilities, 17 residents of the community have died, 67 have been injured," he said.

"Evacuation is ongoing. We take people out every day. About 23,000 residents remain. Many of the evacuees were taken by bus to the city of Dnipro, further west.

"The city is well fortified. Russia does not manage to advance to the city," he said.

On the other hand, EU on Wednesday set out a harder focus on energy given Russia's war in Ukraine.

"We need to prepare for further disruptions of gas supply, even a complete cut-off from Russia," European Commission chief Ursula von der Leyen told the European Parliament.

The EU has launched a $310-billion plan to wean itself off Russian fossil fuel supplies, and is also investing heavily to transform the market towards renewable sources.

Meanwhile former Russian president Dmitry Medvedev invoked the possibility of nuclear war if the International Criminal Court moves to punish Moscow for alleged crimes in Ukraine since the February 24 invasion. "The idea to punish a country that has the largest nuclear arsenal is absurd," Medvedev, a close ally of President Vladimir Putin, said on messaging app Telegram. "And potentially creates a threat to the existence of mankind."

Germany eases path to residency for migrants

BERLIN

Interior Minister Nancy Faeser

TENS of thousands of migrants, who have been living in Germany for years without long-lasting permission to remain in the country, will be eligible for permanent residency after the government approved a new migration bill Wednesday.

The new regulation, endorsed by the Cabinet, applies to about 136,000 people who have lived in Germany for at least five years by Jan. 1, 2022.

Those who qualify can first apply for a one-year residency status and subsequently apply for permanent residency in Germany. They must earn enough money to make an independent living in the country, speak German and prove that they are "well integrated" into society. Those under the age of 27 can already apply for a path to permanent residency in Germany after having lived in the country for three years.

"We want people who are well integrated to have good opportunities in our country," Interior Minister Nancy Faeser told reporters.

The new migration regulation will also make it easier for asylum-seekers to learn German. For skilled laborers, such as information technology specialist, the new regulation will allow them to move to Germany with their families right away, which was not possible before.

The bill will make it easier to deport criminals, includes extending detention pending deportation for certain offenders from three months to a maximum of six months.

States' GST revenue likely to rise in coming months

Govt's reservation to extend cess scheme stems from better GST revenue

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

WITH the significant improvement in GST collection, states' revenue is expected to expand by 10-12% in coming months. Hence, as per finance ministry sources, the States need not depend upon compensation cess in near future.

"GST revenue collection has increased substantially in recent couple of months. If the pace of monthly collection remains then States' revenue will likely expand by 10-12%," a top Government source told TNIE. He indicated the Centre's reservation to extending the compensation cess scheme for another few years stems from the fact that GST collections are increasing on its own.

The GST collection in June was at ₹1.44 lakh crore, 56% more than the revenue in the same month of last year. This was the fourth straight month when the collection had been more than ₹1.4 lakh crore. Also this was the fifth time when GST revenue surpassed ₹1.4 lakh-crore threshold since the inception of GST in July, 2017.

"May and June are not great months for high GST collection. Within the five years GST is showing what it is… ₹1.4 trillion is the rough bottom line now for GST collection," Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman had recently said. When GST was implemented in 2017, the Centre had committed to compensate states for 5 years till June 30, 2022, for incurring losses on account of new regime subsuming various state levies. Sitharaman during the press conference on 47th GST Council's decisions on June 29 had said few states wanted the compensation scheme to be extended by at least a few years, if not another 5 years. A final decision in this would be taken in the next Council meet on July 18, she had said. As many as 13 states have demanded extension of the scheme by a few years. "We incurred huge losses in last 2 years due to Covid. We need compensation cess to make up for the losses," Rajasthan minister Shanti Dhariwal had said.

GST collection goes up in recent months

GST collection in June was at ₹1.44 lakh crore, 56% more than the revenue in the same month of last year. This was the fourth straight month when revenue crossed ₹1.4 lakh cr. This was also fifth time when GST revenue surpassed ₹1.4 lakh cr mark since July 2017

RBI takes measures to check fall in rupee

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

THE RBI has announced a slew of temporary measures to boost forex flows into the country, which has witnessed foreign portfolio investors selling Indian shares amid a burgeoning current account deficit, in turn weakening the rupee.

Doubling the external commercial borrowing (ECB) limit under the automatic route to $1.5 bn up to December 31, 2022 and exempting foreign currency non-resident and non-resident external rupee deposits mobilised through November 4, 2022 from CRR and SLR requirements are the most important.

ECBs are foreign debt availed of by an eligible entity in India for commercial purpose. "It has now been decided to temporarily increase the limit under the automatic route from $ 750 million or its equivalent per financial year to US$ 1.5 billion," the RBI release said. "The all-in cost ceiling under the ECB framework is also being raised by 100 basis points, subject to the borrower being of investment grade rating. The above dispensations are available up to December 31, 2022." Loans including bank loans, floating/ fixed rate notes/ bonds/ debentures (other than fully and compulsorily convertible instruments); trade credits beyond three years, foreign currency convertible bons (FCCBs) and foreign currency exchangeable bonds (FCEBs) and financial lease are forms of ECBs permitted by the RBI. Further, banks are required to include all Foreign Currency Non-Resident (Bank) [FCNR(B)] and Non-Resident (External) Rupee (NRE) deposit liabilities for computation of Net Demand and Time Liabilities (NDTL) for maintenance of CRR (4.5%) and SLR (18%).

"It has been decided that with effect from the reporting fortnight beginning July 30, 2022 incremental FCNR(B) and NRE deposits with reference base date of July 1, 2022 will be exempt from the maintenance of CRR and SLR," RBI said.

Motor insurance: Vehicle use, driving behaviour to determine premium

SABIKA ZEHRA ABIDI @ New Delhi

NOW, the cost of a motor insurance policy would depend on the way you use your vehicle. The insurance regulator has allowed general insurers to launch add-on motor insurance plans, which would be priced as per the use of vehicle.

The Indian Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (IRDAI) has allowed the insurers to design add-on own damage (OD) insurance plans based on concepts like Pay-as-You-Drive and Pay-How-You-Drive. Introduction of these add-ons means that you can now purchase motor insurance that bases the cost of the policy's premium on how you drive. If a person uses his vehicle sparingly, he may have to cough up less in buying an add-on cover. Own damage insurance cover offers financial assistance in case your vehicle gets damaged in an accident or otherwise. Vehicle insurance has two components – third party (mandatory) and own damage cover.

IRDAI said in a notification that the purpose of introducing these options is to give the much-needed flip to Motor own damage insurance and increase its penetration. "With the new IRDAI guidelines, customers will benefit and will have better control over the upfront insurance cost as the premium will be based on kilometres driven by the vehicle," said Ashwini Dubey, head of motor insurance renewals, Policybazaar.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE coal ministry on Wednesday said that the state-owned Coal India Limited (CIL) is looking to reach a wage pact for its non-executive workforce at the earliest.

The ministry, in a statement ,said CIL, India's largest coal producer, aims to conclude the wage pact for this workforce at the earliest in a mutually agreeable manner.

"CIL maintains amicable and harmonious relations with its Unions and strives to avoid any discordance or strikes in view of the importance of the sector in the country. The negotiations are in progress and it usually takes time to conclude the pact," reads the statement.

The company said it is the first CPSE in the country to have successfully concluded the previous three wage agreements. Keeping up this tradition, CIL hopes to quickly seal the wage pact this time as well. Thus it has held five meetings under NCWA – XI so far.

Meanwhile, CIL said its domestic coal production rose sharply by 32% to 67.59 million tonnes (MT) in June 2022 as compared to 50.98 MT in the same month last year. TVS EYES PREMIUM SPACE WITH RONIN

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

TVS Motor Company is eyeing to increase its share in the premium segment with the launch of its modern retro bike Ronin.

The 225-cc Ronin, which comes at a starting price of ₹1.49 lakh is placed between one of company's bestsellers- Apache- and the heavyweight RR310. Currently, Ronin has no direct competition as TVS says its premium lifestyle segment bike is different from other bikes present in the segment. Ronin is likely to compete with the products of Bajaj Auto, Yamaha and even entry level bikes of Royal Enfield that come in the price bracket of ₹1.50-2 lakhs.

"The premium segment is going to grow in India and we have the ability to scale up in this segment. I am very confident about this product (Ronin)," said K N Radhakrishanan, CEO of TVS Motor Company. He expects to sell at least 1 lakh units of Ronin in the current financial year.

Currently, 35% of TVS products fall in the premium category and it has around 40% maker share in the 150-200cc segment. In segments above 200cc, Bajaj and Enfield are the major players.

Radhakrishanan also said that the worst for the two-wheeler industry is behind. He expects the industry to report positive growth in FY23 and clock double digit growth in the next couple of years. "Market is in a strong recovery mode with the opening up of schools, colleges and offices…Rural economy is also expected to do better this year with the anticipation of a good monsoon…The industry will return to double digit growth in the next two years and TVS would outpace the industry growth," said Radhakrishanan.

Talking about the new bike, Ronin is powered by a new 225cc motor and is capable of delivering around 20 bhp of max power @ 7750 Nm and 20 Nm @ 3750 Nm of peak torque. It will be mated to a 5-speed gearbox and can do a top speed of 120kmph.

FMCG companies hit hard by inflationary pressure

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

FMCG giants, including Dabur and Godrej Consumer Products (GCP) have been hit hard by inflation and geopolitical tensions during the June quarter of FY2023.

Dabur, a major company in the sector, has seen consumption pressure across the sector during the quarter. This is on account of unprecedented inflation which has impacted the share of the income available for spending on consumer staples, according to the company's quarterly update released on Wednesday.

However, it said, Dabur is expected to report high single-digit revenue growth on a very high base of 35.4% revenue growth in Q1 FY22. "This is backed by mid-single digit volume growth."

Talking about the different verticals, it said Food & Beverages vertical has seen strong double-digit growth in the quarter and home and Personal Care portfolio is expected to record high single to low double-digit growth on a high base of 26.1 % growth in Q1 FY22. It noted, "Healthcare vertical is expected to report a decline over last year's high base as the business had registered a growth of 30% in Q1FY22 led by the surge of the Delta variant of Covid-19 during the quarter."

Overall, said Dabur, the consolidated revenue is expected to grow at mid to high single-digits but the operating margins are expected to be lower by around 200 bps as compared to Q1FY22. At the same time, another FMCG major Godrej Consumer, which also posted its quarterly update on Wednesday reiterated that the Indian FMCG industry has continued to remain soft during the quarter as it continued to be hit hard by inflation levels aggravating due to geopolitical tensions. This has led to successive price increases and impacting volumes, it said.

THE BIGGER PICTURE

One of the largest temporary sporting venues set to host up to 1200 players at a time

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

The 44,000 sq. feet venue getting ready with sound-proofing & insulaiton material | Sunish P Surendran

44 CHESS OLYMPIAD EXPRESS SPECIAL

IT'S hard to miss the giant structure that presents itself on the left hand side as soon as you enter the premises of a plush hotel in Mahabalipuram that's set to host the 44th Chess Olympiad. The roof work, it looks like rolling canopies covered by a giant white cloth from outside, is already complete. When you walk towards the inside of the temporary structure (it's roughly 44,000 sq. ft., roughly 60-65 per cent of a normal-sized football field) you can see why R Anantharam, the venue in-charge, is of the opinion that "this is one of the biggest indoor sporting structures in the country". Describing it as huge doesn't even do it justice.

Work first started more than two months ago and Anantharam says it will be finished in the next week. "Work started two-three months ago when the venue was confirmed," he tells this daily. "This hall will be completed by July 15. It's halfway through but work is going on very fast." The majority of the work remaining is flooring and lighting but the official, who works out of his home town Sivakasi normally, assures that all is well. Once this temporary hall is fully functioning, the work will be focused on the permanent structure, which is actually a wedding venue. "We have two halls," he says. "The main hall will be comprising of some 50 teams, about 500 players." While that is relatively smaller, because it's a permanent structure, the organisers have decided to keep that as the main hall.

"In all, 50 matches will be held (49 to be exact) in the main hall (per day)." Anantharam, who also holds posts in All India Chess Federation (AICF) and Tamil Nadu State Chess Association (TNSCA), says. "Remaining will be held in this hall which you are seeing now which is under construction. Around 1100-1200 players will be playing. It is of the biggest halls for sports purposes in India, may be. It has all infrastructure purposes, it has a good ambience for playing chess." Ambience, of course, is one of the most important characteristics for elite chess players to concentrate on their game. To that effect, both halls will be soundproof. To ensure that, insulated rockwool has already been used to cover the roof as well as the walls of the secondary hall. The constructors have even taken into account the 'aadi' maasam' (a month in the Tamil calendar). Dangerous winds are regularly observed during this period so they have taken extra care in ensuring the structure remains as it is during this time of the year. Anantharam says the venue should be handed over on July 22nd or 23rd, with teams beginning to arrive around July 26 (the first matches are scheduled for 29th). To ensure all teething problems are ironed out, a practice tournament is slated to be held on July 24th.

Dhawan set to become seventh captain for India this year

GOMESH S @Chennai

EIGHT captains in last 10 months. This year alone there have been six and the new team announced on Wednesday, there have a new captain has been named. The Board of Control for Cricket in India have announced another Indian captain -- Shikhar Dhawan -- at 36 year of age for the ODIs in the West Indies scheduled to begin on July 22 in Port of Spain. The southpaw would be leading a side without the likes of Jasprit Bumrah, Rohit Sharma, Virat Kohli, Rishabh Pant and Hardik Pandya in the three-match series with Ravindra Jadeja acting as his deputy. The squad for the five T20Is series is yet to be named.

While Dhawan has captained India in the past, in Sri Lanka in 2021 for a white-ball series, he would be the seventh Indian captain across formats since Kohli stepped down. Ruturaj Gaikwad and Shubman Gill are the other openers in the squad, which also includes Ishan Kishan, Sanju Samson, Suryakumar Yadav and Deepak Hooda.

India seek fresh start in T20Is

With the T20 World Cup in the horizon, the three-match T20I series against England is the beginning of the home stretch in terms of preparations. A look at the series.

MORE GAMES FOR KISHAN

The southpaw is someone who gets the format. And with KL Rahul not expected to be back anytime soon, if he continues to take advantage of the field restrictions during the powerplay — something India's established top-order don't always do — it gives the management an alternative.

EYES ON BHUVNESHWAR

He had a great time of it in the shortest format against South Africa and Ireland. But opening to Jason Roy and Phil Salt and finishing your spell against the likes of Liam Livingstone is a different ask. If he can do that, India will rubber-stamp his ticket to Australia as soon as the series finishes.

RETURN OF ROHIT

Even though some of the bigger guns will not play the first game, Rohit Sharma will be there fresh off Covid isolation. After being rested for the home series against South Africa — he has sat out quite a few games since being appointed permanent captain — this will be a big challenge. Even if the series has no bearing on his captaincy, it will be hard to miss the overall context going into a World Cup later this year.

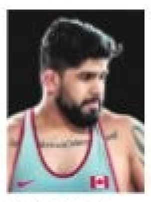
Punjabi flavour in Eng, Canada wrestling teams

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

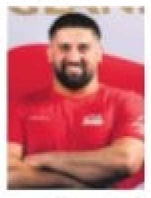
THE Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) has already selected a 12-member squad comprising Olympic medallists Ravi Dahiya, Bajrang Punia and Sakshi Malik for the Birmingham Commonwealth Games.

While the Indian team has enough firepower to set the wrestling mat ablaze, it doesn't have any athlete from Punjab, once called the land of Pehalwans (wrestlers).

However, in a faraway lands, Punjabis have found enough firepower to storm into national team. At least three wrestlers with roots in Punjab will represent their respective countries at the CWG. Mandhir Singh Kooner (125kg) will represent England while Amarveer Dhesi (125kg) and Nishan Preet Randhawa (97kg) will compete for Canada.



Amarveer Dhessai



Mandhir Singh Kooner

Nishan Preet Singh

Mandhir's father, Surinder Singh Kooner, hails from Rurkee Village in Jalandhar district and Amarveer's father, Balbir Singh Dhesi, is from Sanghwal village in the same district. Nishan Preet's father, Gurjit Singh Randhawa, has family tree engraved in Bundala of Kapurthala district.

"I started going for wrestling training sessions with my dad where my cousins were taking part when I was five or six,"

Mandhir, who was born in Wolverhampton, told this daily. Soon he got hooked on the sport and by 2013 he won the junior national championship twice.

When he turned 17, Mandhir began participating in the senior category and soon found a place in the national squad.

"In 2019, I visited India. I trained there under PR Sondhi, a former India coach, and also competed in local dangals."

But as he extended his stay in the country and couldn't reply to emails from the England federation, he was let go from the team. "I then won gold at the 2021 UK and 2022 English Championships to reclaim my place apart from winning CWG trials." Sondhi, former secretary-general of Punjab Association, blamed cash-rich mud wrestling for the downfall of the sport in the state.

From recruitment to employment, B'luru & Chennai-based members of the LGBTQIA+ community lay bare their struggles and expectations to ensure inclusivity in the office

DISCRIMINATION AT THE DESK

CHRISTINA M BABU, DIYA MARIA GEORGE, SAHANA IYER

It had been four months since Vedana* joined her new workplace and had forged friendships with her colleagues. Comfortable in her new circle, she began coming out as cis gender lesbian on public platforms, unaware of what would follow. A change in attitude for the worse, constant criticism and dismissal of her opinions — it became evident that the team she had considered a friend circle was turning its back on her. "Previously, I had received the best performer award. Now, even the mistakes my teammates make are blamed on me. Though we have LGBTQIA+ support groups in my company, it's difficult to bring this up since they haven't explicitly pointed out that their problem is with my sexuality," she says.

This is a frequent experience for the LGBTQIA+ in office spaces. Pride month may be over but there is still much conversation to be had about the struggles of a queer person at the workplace.

While some companies don't consider the community for a position, others seek them out for diversity and inclusion. Unfortunately, these practices are nominal. David*, a trans man, was welcomed with open arms into a company, but at the cost of having to prove his identity. "They didn't have any problem with my resumé and gender identity while I applied for the job. On my first day, they asked for an ID which proves my sexual identity. That time, it was my transition period and I looked like a woman and because I couldn't produce the ID, they didn't hire me," he shares. According to the National Legal Services Authority Vs Union of India (NALSA) judgment in 2014, the discrimination on the grounds of sexual orientation represents inequality before the law and unequal protection of the law and violates Article 14, but some organisations seem to have a found a way around it. "The companies know that asking for a certificate of proof is unnecessary and they won't state this in official emails to avoid legal trouble. Instead they state it as 'the other document which we had discussed'," explains TD Shivakumar, founder of Nirangal, an NGO for LGBTQIA+ welfare.

Turmoils of a toxic workplace

My corporate work experience spans about eight years. So, it had its ups and downs. There was an assumption that as an 'out' person from the community, I won't be able to perform a particular job skill set and homophobic jokes were frequent. We want an inclusive environment, where discussions on how to be better allies are constant. Sometimes my colleagues tease me, and they are not able to understand my struggles and ignore my existence, and other times, LGBTQIA+ policies aren't followed when there is a homophobic work environment.

ALEX MATHEW, marketing freelancer and cis queer man

As a diversity and inclusion practice head of an MNC recruitment agency and a member of the community, Azhaikadal spells out the flaws in company policies. "There are four subcategories under Diversity and Inclusion — women on break, ex-army personnel, disabled people and the LGBTQIA+. But, MNCs tend to allot higher roles for marginalised people, without proper understanding and expect a 100 % relevancy profile. It's hard to find people, who are 'out', with such qualifications. Many have faced a lot of discrimination. This affects their education. So, while I understand that MNCs don't want to lower their standards, it is important to consider the lived experiences and hurdles. If they provide a basic job and train the person, that would be great," Azhaikadal says.

Inside the office

While some are outright denied opportunities, others are subject to inappropriate questions. For Ankita Mehra, a cis gender lesbian, this resulted in the kind of invasion of privacy that the cis hetero community hardly comes by. "My sexual identity became my introduction — people started introducing me as Ankita Mehra, a lesbian," she says.

Microaggression and ignorance aside, people from the community also report instances of sexual assault from higher authorities but their complaints are not treated with the seriousness as their straight counterparts'. SR Chakravarthy, an intersex person and former TV anchor, recalls, "There is little knowledge about intersex people. There are certain things we cannot avoid (such as periods) and since I had a surgery for the removal of my uterus planned, I had to disclose my identity to my seniors. A particular male senior began asking me how I get periods, what I think about when I masturbate, and how is my body 'so sexy'. When I recorded these conversations and reported them to another colleague, she heard it and deleted it," they share. Furthermore, programmes they had recorded were also buried, never seeing the light of day. All this and more caused them to, understandably, resign.

Toxic working environments and lack of empathy are also demonstrated by the long working hours, poor income, increased workload, and lack of post-surgery concern. "After surgery, a trans person cannot lift heavy weights. Despite knowing this, the management continues to make them lift weights and perform manual labour," says Swetha Sudhakar, founder, Born2Win, for education and employment of trans people.

It seems the problem is not restricted to the people from the community but also extends to those associated with them. Sharmila, a cis straight person, is a trans man Saathvik's partner and both of them have faced verbal abuses and discrimination because of their relationship. "Everyone in the office isolates us. They pass derogatory comments and establish that our relationship is something bad," she admits.

Where is the change?

There is much to be changed in the workings of India Inc. But where do we even begin? Azhaikadal believes it has to go back to education. "Companies and recruiters need to educate themselves. You can't ask every person from the community to give a TED talk. Please educate yourselves, learn to address people, use gender neutral language, ask people pronouns. The latter will make them feel better and trust you more," Azhaikadal explains. Senthil (a cis queer person), Delfina, and Vedana also call for sensitisation workshops (preferably mandatory) that will better equip non-queer people to understand the community and their struggles.

With the need to educate, there is also a need to balance the scales. Several people speak of their expectations to be treated the same as the cis hetero community in various areas. Chakravarthy calls for treating LGBTQIA+ reports of sexual assault with the same intent as others, while Kritika Pant, head of operations in the hospitality sector and a cis lesbian, adds, "We want equal benefits for our long-term partners that are granted to straight couples — health insurance, inclusive bathrooms, parental leave, etc." While MNCs are moving toward this, local companies have a long way to go.

Policies and enforcement of the same are important to the safety of queer people, but there is certainly also a need for coworker support, the positive effects of which were noticed by Satish Kumar, assistant vice president at Swiss Re and a gay person. His story is a positive one, thanks to the involvement of his team. So, what went right? "My coming out at work was due to immense support from my senior leaders. The organisation had strong policies towards discrimination. It had a culture of inclusion and I was comfortable bringing my self to work. I proudly wear make-up to the office and there has not been a single negative comment. Rather, I get compliments and sometimes have been asked for make-up tips. I respect and value work culture that promotes individuals purely based on their merit rather than the privilege of belonging to a certain gender or sexual orientation," he says.

One day, hopefully, Satish's experiences will be shared by the entire community, but for now, we hope to see the changes recommended in action and the scales tipped more to accommodate the LGBTQIA+.

Study reveals possible cause of long Covid 'brain fog'

A team of international researchers may have uncovered the cause of the neurological conditions seen in patients with long-Covid, such as brain fog. The team from Swinburne University of Technology and La Trobe University in Australia and Luxembourg University revealed that fragments of proteins from the SARS-CoV-2 virus can form amyloid clumps in the brain that look similar to the amyloids found in patients with neurodegenerative diseases such as Alzheimer's and Parkinson's. Long-Covid is marked by symptoms like memory loss, sensory confusion, severe headaches, and even stroke. The symptoms can persist for months after the infection is over. The precise mechanism of the infection are unknown. — IANS

SICK AND TIRED?

With the flu in the air, here's how you can protect your child from the infection

DR SURESH GOWDA

'Achoo!!' When someone sneezes, most people don't think much of it. But this may not be true for two reasons. One, we often mistake the flu for the common cold. While some symptoms may be similar between a cold and the flu, the latter can come on suddenly and have severe symptoms. The second mistake we make is to think that all cases of the flu are going to be mild. In reality, a flu infection can vary from mild to serious. Young children under the age of five years, particularly toddlers under two, are more vulnerable to developing severe illness.

Moreover, those who are infected can start spreading the flu virus a day before they even show symptoms and may continue doing so for about seven days. This is why it is easy to catch the flu and why it is even more important to protect kids from it.

In many cases, children who get the flu can recover in about a week. However, some may develop flu-related complications that need urgent medical care. For example, some kids develop severe breathing problems or even pneumonia and dehydration. Others who have been diagnosed with asthma or a heart condition can develop serious complications.

Another reason to be cautious is that it can spread easily, through droplets that are released into the air when someone coughs, sneezes, or even talks. Some of these virus-filled droplets may land on commonly handled objects or surfaces like a toy, stationery, phones, doorknob, handle, etc., and then infect the next child who touches these. If children are in school or on the playground, it is very difficult to ensure that they are practising good hygiene practices.

Protect your kids

The annual flu vaccination is a good way to help protect your child. The vaccination is recommended by the Indian Academy of Pediatrics (IAP) for all children between 6 months and 5 years. The first time the child is given the vaccine, they will be given two doses, and after that, a single dose of the annual vaccine is advised. Consult your paediatrician for the same. Ideally, the vaccine should be given from May to June or before the onset of the monsoons.

The vaccination needs to be taken as an annual dose every year until age five. The reason for this is that the influenza virus changes or 'mutates' often and the vaccine needs to be updated every year so that it is effective.

In addition, parents should help their children practice good hygiene. It is important to wash their hands before they eat. Show them how to wash their hands thoroughly with soap and water and how to use a suitable hand sanitiser. With young children, this is easier in theory than in practice! Nonetheless, good hygiene practices must be sown early.

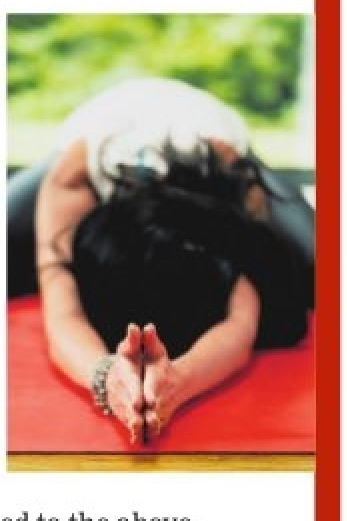
MISS-FIT

Wanitha Ashok

Wanitha Ashok is a Fit India Movement Ambassador and celebrity fitness coach

1 I weigh 65kgs and record around 6,000 steps a day. What is the ideal step count to have if you want to lose weight?

A: 6K steps is for happy knees. Research says people who do 6K steps per day are less likely to have problems standing, walking and climbing stairs later, and it reduces the risk of mobility loss by 16 to 18 per cent. To lose weight it's 15K steps a day teamed with a healthy diet, creating a calorie deficit. 30-40 minutes of cardio, total body strength training, quality sleep and stress management are also essential. Cardio exercises burn calories during the workout, strength training sessions burn calories even while you are resting. Stay consistent and committed to the above.



2 My grandmother, who is close to 80, still does yoga. But she worries she might get stuck in one position because of her age. Is it right for her to do yoga every day?

A: Hey, I love your enthusiasm and well-disciplined grandma who is not blaming her age. This is awesome. Now coming to your question, looks like she has been active, practised yoga all along and hasn't got stuck so far while doing it. She seems to know her limitations. If she knows the principles of exercise, then she should be fine...just in case, keep an eye on her, more so if she has balance issues, vertigo or hypertension.

YOGI'S CHARACTER GANGA FROM HEAD BUSH REVEALED

CE FEATURES

YOGI, popularly known as Loose Mada, will be playing a character named Ganga in the gangster drama Head Bush. The makers unveiled the look of the actor from the film on Wednesday, making Yogi's birthday a special one. Actor Dhananjay, the lead and protagonist of the film, shared the poster on Twitter and wished Yogi. He wrote, "In love with the character of Ganga, I feel no one would have suited that role more than you, #Ganga is going to be remembered for a long time (sic)."

According to debutant director Shoonya, Yogi plays a major role and will appear as a rough and tough guy in Head Bush. "Yogi as Ganga is like another lead, which is on par with the Dhananjay's role, MP Jayaraj. Yogi is a fantastic performer, and he will get his star status back with the film," he says.

Editing and the dubbing process of the film is on going. Meanwhile, Charan Raj, who is scoring music for Head Bush, will begin working on the background score. The film boasts a stellar star cast featuring V Ravichandran, Vasishta N Simha, Sruthi Hariharan, Paayal Rajput, and Raghu Mukherjee in prominent roles. The film, produced by Daali Pictures in association with Somanna Talkies, is based on Agni Sridhar's autobiography My Days in the Underworld. The film will be released on October 21.

I FELT RESPONSIBLE FOR PLAYING A ROLE OF A KAS OFFICER IN HOPE: SHWETHA SRIVATSAV

The actor talks about her comeback film, a political thriller directed by Ambarisha

A SHARADHAA

SHWETHA Srivatsav, known for her roles in films like Simple Agi Ondh Love Story and Kiragoorina Gayyaligalu, took a break from acting owing to her personal commitments of marriage and motherhood. Now, she is making a comeback to the silverscreen with this week's release, Hope. "For 2 years I was committed to taking care of my child, Ashmita. But when I celebrated the second birthday of my daughter, I realised that I too have a life of my own, and was missing being an actor. Luckily, for me, I was approached with a few good stories, and from the ones that were offered, I felt Hope would be a good comeback," says Shwetha.

The actor plays the role of a KAS officer in the film directed by Ambarisha, which explores a woman's struggles as she tries to get into the administrative service. "The role of a KAS officer gave me a break from stereotypical subjects, and I felt the role was a boon. These are the stories of society, which I want to present through my characters. I felt responsible playing this role. Thankfully I got to work with a good team," says Shwetha.

Shwetha expresses her pride in being part of a film produced by India's youngest snooker champion, Varsha Sanjeev. "Being a sports person, she decided to back a women-oriented subject, I was happy to see her evolve through the process of filmmaking."

For Shwetha, marriage and having a child only made her stronger as an actor. "I was always rigid about playing a role that was equal to the hero, even in commercial films. That urge only became stronger after giving birth to my first child. Also, personal life should not matter in a professional career. As an artist, this should not be seen as a hindrance." Hope also stars Sumalatha, Pramod Shetty, Prakash Belawadi, Vishal Hegde, and Gopalakrishna Deshpande in pivotal roles. S Halesh handles the cinematography and the music is composed by Ritvik Muralidhar.

Shwetha, who also has Chikkiya Mooguthi in the lineup for release, feels lucky to be part of Raghavendra Stores, a film that will have her collaborating with Hombale Films, Navarasa Nayaka Jaggesh, and director Santhosh Ananddram.

Niranjan Sudhindra

Despite setbacks, Namma Hudugaru is still special to me: Niranjan Sudhindra

CE FEATURES

NIRANJAN Sudhindra, the nephew of Real Star Upendra, who made his onscreen debut with Priyanka Upendra's Second Half, is finally turning a lead hero with Namma Hudugaru. The film is set to hit the theatres on Friday.

"My debut as the hero did not go as planned. It was a struggle. The working in the film also made me to understand the difficulties production and distribution. Yet, it did not deter my career plans. I was calm and composed, and it has paid off. Here I'm with my first film," he says. Namma Hudugaru, directed by H B Siddu, is set a village of Mandya and Mangaluru.

"The film was made four years ago when I was lean and looked like a college-goer. Back then, my personality did not suit mass films, and that's why I had to pick a subject like Namma Hudugaru. I wanted to do a good cinema. At the end, my performance, my dancing skills, and how the audiences accept me matter the most. Despite setbacks, I still consider Namma Hudugaru special because it is my first film as a hero," he says.

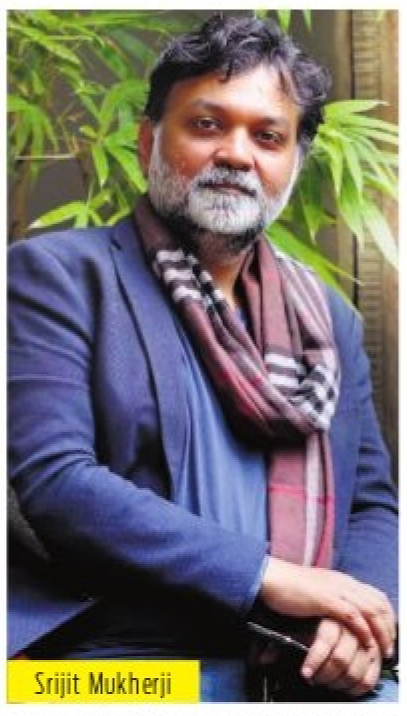
The film, produced by KK Ashraf, features Radhya as the female lead, and Vasishta Simha appears in a pivotal character. Abhiyan Roy and Chidanand H K have handled the music and cinematography respectively.

Talking about the support from his uncle Upendra, he says, "I feel very humbled and responsible. I have a goal and I'm clear on how to take my career forward," he says.

Niranjan also has upcoming films Superstar, Hunter, and Q in different stages of production.

CUTS AND GLORY

SHILAJIT MITRA



Srijit Mukherji

SRIJIT Mukherji pegs Shabaash Mithu as an 'active biopic'. The descriptor fits, given how, while they were shooting, cricketing ace Mithali Raj was still in action. The legendary Indian women's cricket team captain announced her retirement from international cricket on June 8. Taapsee Pannu, the star of the film, shared a list of Mithali's achievements on social media: Youngest ODI captain, highest run-scorer in international debut, only Indian captain to lead in four World Cups, and more. It's a list where the spectacular meets the near-impossible. So, how do you fit all of it into a film?

"I can assure you all the exploits that make up the Mithali legend are there," assures Srijit, who took up the reins from Rahul Dholakia as director. The pandemic enforced several logistical challenges on the team. The climax, for instance, had to be reworked—they couldn't possibly mount a entire World Cup in a bubble. Srijit's solution was adopting the 'footage approach', combining broadcast footage (or what looks like it) with live-action shooting at Lord's. "We used a combination of film and broadcasting cameras," the director explains. "I had someone from the world of cricketing broadcast to assist with that."

Before production commenced, he recalls having a long conversation with Mithali, discussing her stance and backlift. Later, he padded up with Taapsee during early morning net practice. Most of the players in the film—barring Taapsee and Mumtaz Sorcar, who plays pacer Jhulan Goswami—are state-level cricketers. Srijit himself had played cricket till the university level, and even served as an IPL commentator. In fact, if his first film, the Bengali-language Autograph (2010), had not worked, he would've sought out a career in cricket journalism. "When I was working as an economist in Bangalore, my office was close to the Cricinfo office. I had my eyes on that in case I failed as a filmmaker."

A still from Shabaash Mithu

Despite the incredible nature of Mithali's story, and people's relative ignorance of women's cricket in India, a shadow remains. Sports biopics in India are rarely unique or formally inventive (a recent exception was Nagraj Manjule's Jhund). Many follow the same underdog-struggle-victory template. Srijit, asked about the repetitive nature of these films, assures that such is not the case with Shabaash Mithu. "We avoided that beat at several points. I can say that it's not a typical underdog story ending in a victory."

Srijit, one of the top filmmakers in Bengal, has been racking up one Hindi credit after another. His most recent film, Sherdil, opened to mixed reviews across India (he'd previously directed Ray and Begum Jaan in Hindi). It's not just him; many Bengali actors (Parambrata Chatterjee, Jisshu Sengupta, Abir Chatterjee), directors (Suman Ghosh, Abir Sengupta) and composers (Jeet Ganguly, Neel Adhikari) have been steadily crossing over to Hindi. Srijit attributes this phenomenon to the rise of OTTs and a push for cross-regional casting and hiring. The audience, too, has been opening up.

"We are finally approaching a united Indian film industry," he says. "There is now a Fahadh Faasil fan club in Kolkata."

I TURNED DIRECTOR TO BECOME A HERO: CHANDRA KEERTHI

CE FEATURES

ACTOR-turned-filmmaker Chandra Keerthi's upcoming comedy-thriller Tootu Madike has created quite a buzz, especially for its title and songs. The film is set to release this week. "Being an actor, and having been in the industry for 7 years, I was not getting the right kind of characters. I did try for opportunities and attended auditions but the supporting characters could not meet my financial needs. Since nobody intended to cast me as a hero, I had to turn director to become one," explains Chandra Keerthi, who penned the story for the film, which has dialogues by Raghu Niduvalli.

The director shares that Tootu Madike takes place in the backdrop of a slum and revolves around an antique figurine, which then results in some hilarious twists and turns. Produced by Madhusudhan Rao and Shivakumar K B, the film stars Pavana Gowda as the female lead. Tootu Madike also features Girish Shiva and Pramod Shetty in important roles.
